The School of Agriculture

I. О. Schaub Dean

THE purpose of the School of Agriculture is threefold; (1) To secure through scientific research, experimentation, and demonstration accurate and reliable information relating to soils, plants, and animals, and to secure from every available source reliable statistical, technical, and scientific data relating to every phase of agriculture that might be of advantage to our State; (2) to provide instruction in college for young men who desire to enter the field of general agriculture, or who wish to become professionals in agricultural education or specialists in any field of science related to agriculture and (3) to disseminate reliable information through publications and through extension agents, and through a wise use of this information to give instruction to the agricultural workers of the State in the scientific, experimental, and practical progress in the various lines of agriculture.

All effective instruction in agriculture is based on research and investigation, and the curricula are organized so that not only the subject-matter for classroom instruction and extension work may be drawn from research, experimentation, and demonstration, but that the students themselves shall have the opportunity to work under the direction of research specialists.

The vocations open to well-trained young men in the field of agriculture and the opportunities afforded for distinct service to the State are greater than ever before in our history. In order that the larger vocations in agriculture may be presented to the youth of our State, the courses of study are so organized as to give specific training for the following major vocations: General Farming, Agricultural Extension Agents, Agricultural Specialists in State or Federal Departments. Stock-Raising and Dairying, Specialists in the Manufacture of Dairy Products, Fruit Growers, Truck Farming, Poultrymen, Agricultural Specialists in Foreign Lands, Agricultural Administration, and Farm Management.

In addition to these major vocations, the School of Agriculture gives instruction in Beekeeping, Floriculture, Forestry, and the basic instruction for teachers of Agriculture.

DR. W. C. RIDDICK

THIS is the AGE OF THE ENGINEER. History began with the age of the soldier and for thousands of years the military leader dominated the earth. Then followed the age of the Philosopher and the Theologian, when the greatest minds were busy in propounding systems of philosophy and theology. Following these came the age of the pioneer and the discoverer, during which vasts portions of the earth hitherto unknown to man, were discovered and made available for his habitation.

We have now come to the AGE OF THE ENGINEER, who has evolved from the pioneer and the discoverer. He is the master of the sciences and he it is, who makes practical application of these sciences to meet the needs of our modern life and civilization which, during the last century, have increased enormously in their complexity. He provides transportation by building roads, and railroads. He designs and constructs locomotives, automobiles, and aeroplanes. He has constructed the telephone, the telegraph and the radio, and is continually increasing their usefulness and efficiency.

G.STATE GOLLEGE

The engineer brings pure water into our homes and disposes of the waste and refuse, which formerly befouled our streets. In this way he has made it possible for men to live in large cities with safety. He lights our homes and our cities. He turns running water into power and makes it possible to use it hundreds of miles away. His services are essential in the construction and operation of all industrial plants.

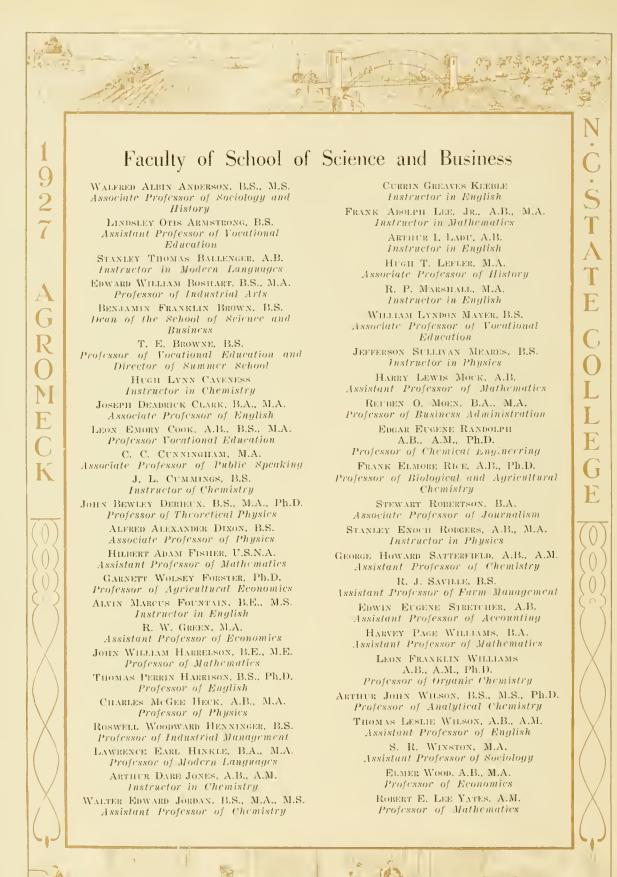

The School of Engineering at State College has for its purpose the preparation of men for efficient service in this AGE OF THE ENGINEER.

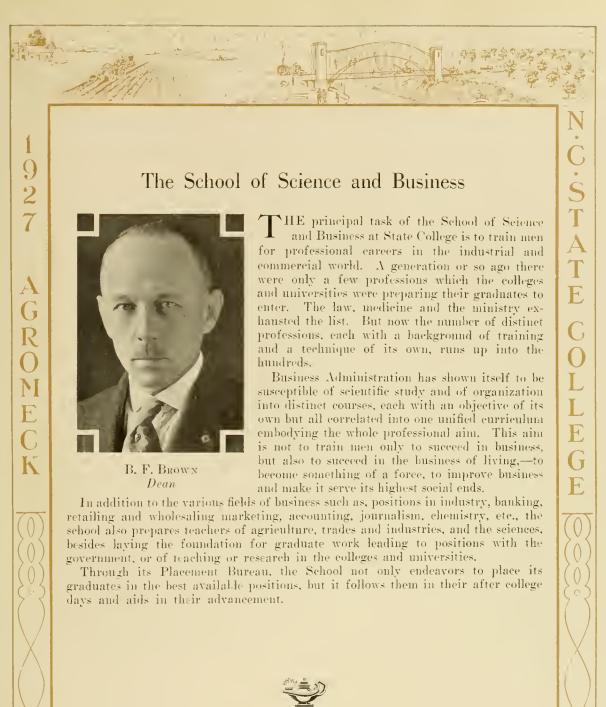

This School embraces the Departments of Architectural, Ceramic, Chemical, Civil, Electrical, Highway, Mechanical and Mining Engineering, and the Engineering Experiment Station. The college has continuously increased its emphasis on engineering education for the young men of the State and has been largely instrumental in bringing about the recognition of Engineering as a learned profession.

The School of Engineering is larger and more completely equipped and teaches more students than the combined engineering departments of all other institutions in the State. Our students live and work in an engineering atmosphere, where every daily association is helpful, in that it keeps the prospective engineer in constant touch with those things that pertain to his work. In a word, State College is the center from which go out most of the men trained to supply the engineering industries of the State.

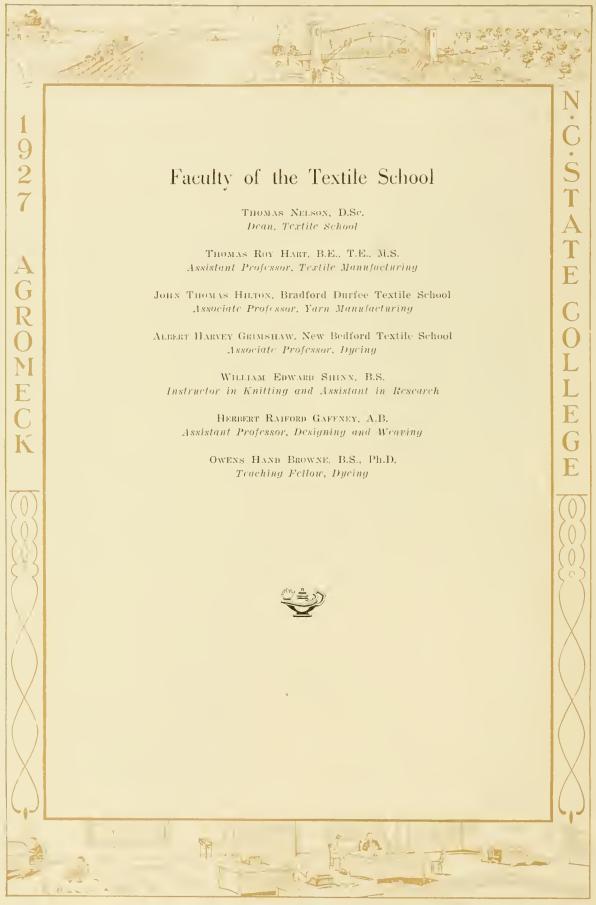

The location of the college is especially favorable for the study of engineering. Raleigh, besides being the Capitol and having the several State Departments, including the State Highway Commission, the State Board of Health, and other important State institutions, is a rapidly growing city marked by unusual developments in residential, commercial and municipal construction, which afford excellent opportunities for observation and study. There are in the vicinity commercial chemical plants, woodworking plants, railway shops, machine shops, cotton mills, and other manufacturing industries.

Raleigh is also the center from which electric power is distributed to a large section of the State. A large transformer sub-station adjoins the campus, from which high tension lines carry electrical power in every direction. In addition to a splendid steam plant within the city, hydro-electric and steam-electric plants are within easy reach on the Cape Fear River. The many important highways entering Raleigh are very valuable for the observation and study of construction use, and maintenance of roads.

The Textile School

Dean

THE Textile School of the North Carolina State College is playing an important part in the industrial progress of the South. Its object is to promote further progress in the textile industry—first. by training leaders for the future expansion of the industry, and second, by research and investigation to discover new and better processes of manufacture and thus contribute to the present day knowledge of producing and finishing textiles.

C.STATE G

Ľ

L E G

With these aims in view, the School is equipped to give thorough instruction in the principles underlying the manufacture of cotton into yarns and fabrics of utility and beauty.

The worth of a school may be measured by the accomplishment of those who have come under its influence. Many graduates of the Textile School have, through perseverance and personal efficiency, become mill owners, presidents, managers, superintendents, assistant superintendents, overseers of carding, spinning and weaving, textile chemists, designers, salesmen, machinery draftsmen, efficiency engineers. The graduates also hold many positions of responsibility in Commission Houses and with Fabric Converters.

The growth of the textile industry in the South has been rapid and within the next few years a large proportion of textile mills will be located in the cotton growing states. North Carolina leads the South in the number of spindles; in the knitting industry; and has some of the largest textile manufacturing plants in America.

Facilities for Research

While textile manufacturing is an industry of long standing, having much knowledge gained from experience and a rich accumulation of scientific facts, there are yet many problems facing the industry which await solution. The aim of the Department of Research is to apply the principles of scientific investigation and measurement to the solution of these problems.

Tompkins Hall, the home of the Textile School, was enlarged in 1926 and the remodelled structure furnishes space for a separate unit of machinery which is devoted to experimental work. The research laboratory is equipped with the latest types of testing apparatus, so that the properties of textiles may be measured and compared, and includes microscopes and a microphotographic outfit for more closely studying the cause and effect in manufacturing and finishing textiles.

The Graduate School

Dr. C. C. TAYLOR
Dean

THE Graduate School at North Carolina State College was organized and is maintained to meet the needs for men trained to perform functions and tasks which demand something beyond technical trade. Agriculture, engineering, manufacturing and business are no longer mere occupations. They are, in some of their aspects, professions and sciences. In their largest aspects they are world affairs. They, therefore, need the most highly trained scientists and statesmen which colleges can produce in order to cope with the technical and world problems which relate themselves to the technical professions.

There is no greater need anywhere in modern civilization than the need for specially and highly trained leaders in agriculture and industry. It is now clearly known that scientific knowledge and analysis are as essential to the technological professions as they are to medicine or law. It is also recognized that undergraduate training alone is not sufficient to furnish trained men for the tasks of science. Graduate training is designed to furnish just such training.

The Graduate School at North Carolina State College offers graduate studies and opportunities for research in all the technical professions for which its undergraduate curricula train men; in the sciences which underlie these technical professions; and in the economic and social aspects of the great processes which men trained in these technical professions seek to develop and guide.

During the year 1926-27, sixty-two persons have been registered in the Graduate School. Twenty-seven of these men are candidates for graduate degrees in June 1927.

FRANK CAPPS

Acting Librarian and Director of College Extension

T HE new library building at State College was formally opened on the afternoon of Monday, the seventh of June, 1926, at the thirty-seventh annual commencement of the College. The building is named in memory of Doctor Daniel Harvey Hill, a former President of the College, and the dedicatory exercises took place in an atmosphere of poise and serenity, thoroughly in keeping with the life of him whose name it bears.

CSTATE

COLL L E

"As he lived among books while yet with us in the flesh, it is proper that we make a collection of books minister, in this magnificent temple, to his gentle memory," said the Honorable O. Max Gardner, a former pupil of Dr. Hill's in the dedicatory address.

"A library is a temple of truth," declared Dr. Edwin Mims on the same occasion. Of Dr. Hill he said, "An interpreter along the highway, a keeper of the records, and a shepherd of the Delectable Mountains."

The new library building stands in the bend of the main road through the College campus. It is designed in the post-colonial of the Jeffersonian Period, the style which is familiar in the beautiful buildings of the University of Virginia and the Jefferson home at Monticello.

The building consists of a large portico of Georgia marble columns and the usual Colonial type of brick. The treatment of the building is noted for its simple dignity.

Under a flat dome of the type used at Monticello is the main entrance hall, a room of extraordinary beauty. It is lined with caen stone on the first story and above is a balustrade of Botticino marble. Immediately to the rear of the main hall is the great reading room. The stack room, with a capacity of 150,000 volumes, is located under the reading room, and extends the entire length of the building. There are also seminar rooms and a large periodical room.

The library facilities have been greatly increased by the consolidation, during the past year, of the various departmental libraries into the central library. In addition, new volumes are constantly being added, so that the facilities are ever being increased to meet the expansion of the College. A competent staff of librarians render satisfactory library service.

THERE'RE many things we've done, but more to do, 'Ere our unfinished duties end:

Be brave ye gallant sons of State,
Our mutual rights defend.

Take heed, where'er ambition leads,
What'er we are, or do, or say,
Let truth be foremost in our minds;
'Twill help us on our ardnous way.
Guard honor as you would a sacred shrine
Intrusted in your care:

With honor there is nothing,
No there's nothing friends, to fear.
Exalt, respect, protect God's greatest gift—
Sure, every one will guess:
It's kind and virtuous womanhood;
That priceless treasure all possess.
Then loyal shall we be, this noble class,
To great ideals and faithful friends;
Yes, this and even more, to all mankind;
To State, Our Alma Mater.

"D. S." "Sandy"

"D. S." "Sandy"

This handsome lad who answers to the above names hails from the metropolis of Neuse, N. C. In order to know Allen it is necessary only to meet him. He has always been found to be the same good natured fellow. From his grades you can see at a glance that he has done his part, worked well, and as for a blue or discouraged look, it has never been seen on his face.

"D. S." will make good in life because he is capable of making practical application of the theoretical knowledge which he has acquired.

For the past four years "Sandy" has not seemed to trouble much about the ladies. But after all, we feel that it is peculiar that he should spend so many week-ends at "home."

Good luck to you "Sandy." Here's wishing you the best of everything in all your undertakings.

"Rail Road"

"Rail Road"

On State campus it is "Railroad," but we understand on a nearby campus it is "Brother Raymond." Anyway you will have to hand it to hum for rating "foster sisters" among the guests at Dr. Charley's Country Club. You probably would not have guessed it but this fellow seems to have an irresistable line among the fairer ones. It is rumored that after getting his B.S. at State he will likely get his Master's Degree at a near-by North Carolina Town.

A glance at the above honors and activities will at once show that this man has not loafed during his stay with us.

Yes, "Pete" is from Goldsboro and he wants the world to know that he lives in a land that not only overflows with "Milk and Honey." but all other fancy furm products as well. "Pete" is quite a unique character. This is perhaps why he is so well liked by all the boys. Even the girls like "Pete the wrestler" because he is such an efficient necker.

Go to it, "Pete," ole boy! Success is yours A man like you never fails.

has taken an active part in many student activities on the Campus.

"Morris" is a man who has more real ability than he is given credit for, although he has not made such high grades, he has never flunked a course. That is something that we can't all say.

We have always found "Bob" a pal, a friend, and a gentleman with a host of friends who will miss his congenial jolly personality long after they leave school. His straight forward manner, his undying energy, and his desire to do something will surely carry him to the heights that great menattain.

CHARLIE DICKENS BASS Scotland Neck, North Carolina Civil Engineering

Halifax County Club; R. O. T. C. 1, 2; A. S. C. E.

"Charlie"

Charlie is probably the most popular man in the Senior Civil Engineering section. He has, by his cheerfulness, sincerny, and conscientions work, made friends with all the students and professors with whom he has been associated.

During his Senior year, Charlie has made a record for which many strive and few attain. He has, without excessive effort on his part, secured a firm double grip on the lower limb of our "Nationally known and justly famous" professor of Highway Engineering. He leaves this record as a goal for ambitious juniors to strive for.

Charlie says that when he chose Engineering as his profession the world was cheated of a dam good farmer and the day that he decides to return to his first love may not be far off.

We predict that Charlie will toake his fortune in Engineering while he is quite young.

FRANK JEROME WILLIAMS Monroe, North Carolina Civil Engineering

"Frank"

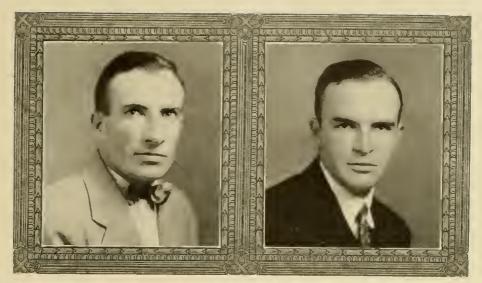

"Frank"

Strength of character, strength of mind, strength of personality, and strength of physique. These four elements have been combined in such a manner, to prove conclusively that in "Union there is strength." All this may be due to the fact that "Frank" is a native of Union County, Coming to State College with a determination to reach the peak of success, coupled with remarkable natural ability, "Frank" is indeed leaving behind him a most enviable scholastic record. His record is well deserved because no harder and more faithful worker can be found on the campus.

and more rathern campus.

It is said that "behind every man's success is a woman," unfortunately "Frank" hasn't yet revealed the identity of his "inspiration." Wo can hardly wait until he enlightens us.

ERNEST NEVILLE BRACKETT Landrum, South Carolina Ceramic Engineering

A. C. S. 2, 3, 4; R. O. T. C. 1, 2, Corporal 2; Palmetto Club 1, 2; Bible Study 1, 2, 3, Assistant Leader 2, 3; S. V. M. 2, 3, 4; Knight of Saint Patrick.

"Sargent" "Ennie"

"Sargent" "Ennie"

Gentlemen, in Brackett you see a veritable human marvel. If "Sergeant" doesn't know it, he will soon. If he doesn't hear about it, it doesn't happen. He is good in his technical and professional knowledge, too. As one of two in a class he had to learn. "Sergeant" will tell you, if hard pressed, all about the Ceramic and Chemical industries in the United States. He is registered as a Sand-lapper, hnt is proud of his North Carolina birth.

The only time Brackett has taken a false step was when he was run over by a Ford, in April of his Junior year. He insists that he was inspecting the type of road construction. Others, who know him, opine that he was suffering from too many thoughts of N. C. C. W., and a certain town "Way down East."

LOCKE RAYNER HUMBERT Wadesboro, North Carolina Electrical Engineering

Anson County Club 1, 2; A. I. E. E. 1, 2; R. O. T. C. 1, 2, 3, 4, First Lieutenant 4; Technician Staff 1, 2, Assistant Manager 2; Pullen Literary Society 1, 2, 3, 4; Knight of Saint Details.

"Humbert"

"Humbert"

Humbert is a quiet fellow, always attending to his own business, and seeing that no one else attends to it. He is a sincere, frank, persevering man that is able to overcome the obstacles which lie between him and his goal.

Locke's specialty is Ohm Chasing. In his Sophomore year he had great trouble in convincing Derieux that he was not near a "physical" break down. The latter years have been spent in convincing "Goat" that he was not a goat. For diversion, he keeps Frank Capps's library going, and allows amourous words to flow from his pen, which go all the way from the Atlantic to Arkansas.

CYRUS O. BUTLER Southern Pines, North Carolina Chemical Engineering

Phi Kappa Phi; Tau Beta Pi; Moore County Club; Berzelius Chemical Society; Gamma Sigma Epsilon; Pine Burr Society; Engineers Council 4; Knight of Saint Patrick.

"Cy" is one of our molecule chasers and he seems to enjoy it. During his four years at State College he has proven to be the most outstanding student in Chemistry. "Cy" has at tained a high scholastic standing, ranking among the highest for such honors.

He came to the State from the Sandhills, and the only reason he left them to come up here was that he couldn't bring them with him. Incidently he left the peaches behind also, fruit and otherwise. But from the week-ends that he spends there they haven't been altogether lonely. He says, however, that he is going back and help L. L. supply our famous winter resort with aqua pura. We're sure that you are going up in the world "Cy," and if you can't get up any other way, we know you can rely on Chemistry.

CAREY ALBERT PHILLIPS Cameron, North Carolina Electrical Engineering

Moore County Club; Sand Hill Club 1, 2, 3; A. I. E. E. 3, 4; Knight of Saint Patrick.

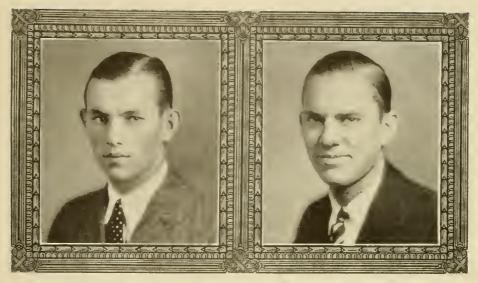

"Carey"

No! You'll never hear him, and if you want to see him, look for him either at his room or out in the Lassiter's Mill neighborhood.

"Carey" is quiet and reserved, but he is always for a bigger and better N. C. State. During his first two years he did not do much "sheiking," but toward the last he says "why study when you can have a date?"

Nevertheless all this outside activity does not keep "Carey" from his College duties. Around his fellow students and classmates he is quiet and industrious and always a friend worth having. "Carey's" real genius is hard to express, but is fell by all who come in contact with him; and the fact that he lights the campus every other night is proof of his brilliance.

"Shorty"

"Shorty"

Mexico, that turbulent neighbor of ours, seemed to be more attractive to "Shorty" than school, for at the end of his Junior year, his roamings took him to the land of the Senoritas, Bull-fighters, and "Cantinas." While there, on a road building program for the Mexican Government, he learned many tricks which were not to be learned from the blackbeards of the class rooms, or from the droning lectures of the professors.

But after the short boy from "Carolina del Norte" felt that a State diploma was more in form with his early ambitions than that of driving peons to their daily toil and of pulling them from their daily "Siesters," so the fall of 1926 saw him again enrolled at State.

He has shown what he is made of not only by returning to old N. C. State, but by buckling down like a real soldier to the well known "drags" that eventually make or break us.

"Jimmie" is our striking example of the worm that turned. From a studious beginning, he evoluted unto the head of the "Don't let studies interfere with your socialing" class. In fact, so thoroughly did he evolute, the E. E. Department looked long and hard at Pine Burrs and Golden Chains before handing the O. K. to "P. G."

But this just goes to show that what Jim sets out to do, he does, and with a wholehearted spirit that is hard to stop.

is a handicap, but for him it seems merely a change of climate.

Raised in a scaport town, he has seen many sink below the surface, which probably accounts for his ambition to rise to the top. We think he has accomplished this because we know how high he stands in his class.

He has one great failing, however. On any pretty afternoon, no matter what happens or what everybody else is doing, you can always find him on the corner where the ladies pass by.

Although this is a large and cruel world, we are sure that with his ability and determination, Hulbert will have a good portion of it in his nossession.

By no means can "Jack" he called a "bookworm," but by looking up his record you will find that he has made numerous "ones" under the hardest and easiest professors on the hill.

"Jack" is from a little town in the eastern part of the State. This does not necessarily mean that he will do little things in this world, for "Jack" has a wonderful personality, humorous at times and yet retaining the scriousness which is so necessary for success in life. We wish him the greatest success in the world and we predict a future for Jack that is not going to be commonplace.

"Bull" is a firm believer in the old saying that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." He loves a good time, and does not stand around and wait for fun to come his way. He goes out and finds it. He has a weakness most of us are afflicted with. It is not his fault though, because women seem to take to him like ducks to a pond. We don't know just what he has on his line in Raleigh but we understand there's a fair one iu Randolph County who calls him "Honey."

Good luck to you, "Bull," and may your conquests never cease.

"Chundy" "Ed" "W. E." "Sheik"

When this innocent and rather timid young fellow from the Land of the Sky—incidently the land where men are men and women are cooks—came to our campus, we had no idea that he was the answer to the question: Why do girls leave home? But, it was during his Sophomore year that Capid demanded "all the cards on the table," and from that day his clear title to "the Sheik of the Campus" has been little disputed.

"W, C," Hails from our Capital City where the "fairer sex" are good to look upon and are found in abundance. Let me state here that "Dope" knows them all. In fact, it is runnored that he has inside information concerning all new female arrivals in town and he meets each incoming train to give them the "once over."

Of late he has restricted his ramblings wholly to Ashe Avenue. We wonder why?
His virtues far outnumbered his faults and he is a friend truly worth having. We hope that his successes are many and his shortcomings few. Just another one of the "Scandalous Sextette"—Dope, Teddy, Barney, Potts, Jim, and Bill. "Lets get one."

"Barney"

When "Barney" fell in on us one rainy day in September 1923, we knew immediately that he was from Schenectady, N. Y., first time he spoke, because we asked him. We then began to wonder why he should be so far away from home and found out as soon as he began his nightly travels to the wilds of Nash Drive. As the "spirit" of the South entered into him he began to feel at home and has been one of our closest huddles ever since. "Barney" always has a cheery word for every one and is well liked all over the campus. His ramblings are not confined wholly to Nash Drive and his line has caught many—girls, We all know that "Barney" has it in him to make good and we know that he will.

He is also a member of the Scandalous Sextette—Bill, Barney, Jim, Potts, Teddy, and W. C. "Yep, I gotta go to Nash Drive—."

"H. G." "Henry"

"H. G." "Henry"

We have often thought that this tall, brown eyed boy should have been an artist instead of a farmer, because he spends much of his spare time drawing pictures of good looking girls and discussing various features of his drawings.

"H. G." possesses something that makes every one like him and it may well be said. "To know him is to like him, and to like him is to love him," "Henry" is an excellent student, an expert among the ladies, and a fellow who can start fan wherever he goes. He has good looks, coupled with his brightly cultivated line. Some of his friends say, that if a girl fails to fall for him in fifteen minutes he looks behind her to see what is holding her up.

In "H. G." there is versatility to the extent that he is never among strangers, but a mixer, leader, patriot, and the greatest of all, a Man.

"B. F." "Ben"

Benjamin Franklin Shelton—a Carolinian by birth, a cotton boll by environment, a farm manaer by instinct, and, because he had nothing better to do in the fall of 1923, he became a Techman. His first appearance on the campus reminds us of its color in early spring, and today, he is a good example of what the colleges should strive to turn out. It has been stated that his existence here is to prove that Speed can produce good business deals us well as white face cattle. Regardless of his great responsibility here, his brother, and the "darling woman," his work coupled with his natural ability has placed him among the foremost of his class. Business Manager of the Agriculturist impossibilities were overcome. The transformation of a house into a home for two has been contemplated. Thus we predict him a bright fature (provided the Sun shines).

itself proof enough of his ability as a mechanical engineer.
"Frank" is one of the most agreeable fellows in the class of '27, having, as a result of his good nature, numerous friends on the campus. His ability to lend a helping hand "when a fellow needs a friend" makes '27 proud to claim him.

On the lasketball squad "Frank" is a real asset, and he has proved that he is made of the fighting material for which State College men are distinguished. If he shows the same spirit when he "tries" for the team of Life we feel certain that he will make a name for himself.

C. C. W. miss's heart.

"Tubby's" major, Biology, is above most of us but it is a cinch that every mothers' son that is registered here has been entertained at some time or another by this "ivory tickler."

Your bark, while anchored at State, has helped bring happiness and contentment, "Tubby," and we feel sure your sunny disposition and untiring ability will see you safely through the storms of life and into the pleasant, port of achievement.

Durham is not an oversized place, but if its products are as well known throughout the world as "Joe" Moss is on this campus its fame will never die. "Joe" always has a friendly greeting for everybody and seems to be the friend of everybody.

He is a fast worker too for be made a young lady say "yes" in pretty short order. So he has spent his Senior year off the campus with her. We never see him out late at nights now. He's a changed man.

"doe," like most of us, does not spend most of his time with his face in a book, but if friends mean anything towards success in life he will be near the top of the ladder before it is all over with.

He is liked by all and is a jolly good fellow to be with. "K. V." is more of the type we read about than one we come in contact with in everyday life. A true friend, a real buddy, and all-round good fellow; that's Wainwright. To see no harm; speak no harm and hear no harm applies to "K. V." Few of us can say this as applying to ourselves.

"Strumy" as he is better known, has always been a marvel to his friends and classmates, Rarely does he take life seriously, and he accepts his college work as a matter of course. Study seldom interferes with his other activities, yet when the reports come out "Strumy" goes about with a broad grin of satisfaction. "Strumy's" chief weaknesses are mirrors and amonia, though this is not generally known. Formerly, "Strumy" seemed immune to the ladies, but recently he has made several journeys over to Greensboro and Louisburg; so there must be some one who holds a special attraction for him.

"Locke"

Romans, friends, and Presbyterians, here is a real man among men. He is a hard worker, conscientious, and a true friend.

During our relationship with him he has been very studious, and is far from the bottom of his class.

We are sure that his home town has a strong attraction for him, because there are many weekends that his face is missed on the campus. It has been reported that if he passes all his work he will get his "Master's Degree" in Jackson Springs this summer.

After all is said and done the mechanical engineering field has a great future for a man of his type and ambition, and we feel sure that he will continue to conquer the world's problems as he sails out on life's tempesthous H₂O.

"Teddy"

For nommes-de-plumes he has them. The girls prefer to call him "Virgil" but to us he will always be "Teddy," Since his arrival here he has made himself a friend among friends, but a man to the fairer sex. He has won a great feat as "bull slinger" and "parlor athlete." We wonder if it is his line or that winning smile that is responsible for his long mailing list.

Even though he does make numerous and extended week-end trips to Danville he somehow manages to return to Radeigh to catch "blitan Lee's" nine o'clock Monday class. We believe there is a nurse at the bottom of it.

To make a long story short "Teddy" is a true friend and member of that scandalous sextet: Barney, Dope, Potts, Teddy, Bill, and Jun "Here comes one."

"Potts"

"Potts" as he is familiarly known claims that he hails from Windsor, but we have decided that he comes from the swamps around Ahoskie.

This lad entered State in 1923 and immediately became friends with every one. Although encountering difficulties at first he always came upsmiling and was ready to go again and is sure to make good.

"Potts" has a peculiar charm over women. Perchance it is his gruff voice and cave-man methods or maybe its the size of his feet. Anyway, his "Rognes Gallery" is proof enough of his attraction. He has an unbreakable grup on the Major's "leg" and is thinking of ousting hum from his position at State College.

Taking everything into consideration "Potts" is a good old sport or he would not be a member of that Scandalous Sexiet—Barney, Bill, Jim. W. C., Teddy and Potts.

"Lead me to it," and he will lead you back.

BYRON CAVINESS O'QUINN, 5 T B Mamers, North Carolina

"Carsey"

"Carsey" came to pursue an education at this institution after realizing that he belonged at State instead of Carolina. Entering as a Sophomore in the fall of 1924, he caused much controversy. "Why doesn't that Freshman wear a cap?" could be heard on every band, but when he started out "amongst 'em' every one knew that he had some "college experience."

It has been no trouble for "Carsey" to land a job. Eight months before graduation he had been employed as chief salesman for the Chevrolet Moior Company with headquarters at Mamers. North Carolina. He has adopted a salesman's slogan, "In the middle of the night, by a Chevrolet coupe and then I'll be happy." With such a slogan "Carsey" could not help but "about face" and become a prosperous business man.

During his three years with us, 'Carsey' has been a very conscientious worker. You will find few men who are the all round good sport that he is. With his likable personality and business ability, we prophecy a prosperous future for him.

"T. D." "Lefty"

"T. D." "Lefty"

In the fall of '23 there appeared upon the campus a lad who immediately gave us a mental picture of the beautiful lawns of spring. He was forced to admit his colors when he attempted to est at a table in Wright's Cafe with no coat on. This seems strange to the many that know the "Thornal" of today, because Dr. Metcalf's Evolution has certainly been at work on him. He has evolved to the point where he "fits in" on any occasion, social or otherwise.

"Thornal" has carried out a very extensive and varied social program while in the Capital City.

"T. D." is one of the few that have foresight enough to leave the farm only long enough to equip themselves for becoming leaders of Agriculture in the State.

Then he met the girl. He returned, to write poetry and work like one inspired. His diligence has been fruitful, and he is easily one of the most popular men that we have with us.

He ever casts a wistful eye in the direction of Clayton, from whence comes his inspiration.

His big heart and cheerful disposition characterize his innermost being. He always greets his friends with a sunny smile and a pleasant word. His optomistic mood enables him to tread the rugged paths of life without complaint.

As his picture implies "Mac" is a very solemn and sound thinker. Yet after you know him you will learn that he has a keen sense of humor along with his more or less philosophical mind. It is always a pleasure to "sit in" on a "Bull session" with "Mac." He can always talk about things in a very quiet and interesting manner.

Mac's greatest honor is his host of friends. Even with his popularity and general interest in the various organizations on the campus he has been nnable to take a very active part. This was due to the fact that he chose to use his spare time in another manner equally as important to him.

A fitting nickname, so the girls tell him. A count in every respect but one and this one he will overcome as he grows older. Many times he has been caught examining his upper-lip before a glass smiling the while, which we interpret to mean, "it can't be long until I will able to grow a mustache."

"Monty" has undergone many experiences during his stay of four years at State College. He would tell you himself that the most trying experience has been that of staying away from a certain girl located in his home town, Haw River, one whole week at a time. Through all his experiences he has emerged the victor, and demonstrated his ability to overcome obstacles as they present themselves.

He seems to have a mania for second-hand automobiles, and manages to ride most of the time. Any time you see "Bill" and the rest of the "Gaug" loaded on any edition of the "Hesperus" you may well know that something is going to happen somewhere. But they always return.

Years ago his Gang discovered that in "Jim" there is not only that quality of potential sobermindeduess (so lacking in most of us!) but also a rare capacity for friendship. Truly, indeed, has he been our ever-present help in time of trouble and worry.

Most of his off-class hours have been claimed by the State Department of Education where he has been promoting visual education in the schools of North Carolina; as a result, little of his time has been available for campus activities. The class of '27 expects great things of you "Mack." We understand why you "high hat" us when we yell at you on Hillsboro Street. Experience is a wise teacher, and "Dad" has been one of her aptest pupils. If you get him in a corner and persuade him to tell of his adventures you will find that he would be quite at home drawing cable over a high tension tower in South America, or hanging around the north pole drawing arctic circles, or perhaps we might picture him doing a Fern Dance in an Alabama jungle.

"Oats" "W. C."

Because the uniform department of Clemson College refused to cover a "Park" with a uniform, ("W. C.") became a revolutionist and entered State in his Junior year only to have the Textile faculty refuse to bear the burden of educating him and force the other departments to share the responsibility jointly to finish this Textile Engineering student in his course.

"W. C." is as ambitious as he is a hard worker. His ambition is to get to an eight o'clock class before eight thirty, and to walk down Fayetteville Street without being noticed by every woman he passes. His work is mostly trying to get out of work. Never-the-less, "W. C." is not a man that needs to be a book worm, for his common sense will earry him to worldly success as it has carried him through college. He has made many friends among students and faculty—friends who will remember him though college days be but a memory. a memory.

The fair sex of Raleigh has failed to catch Carl's attention, but we are inclined to believe there is one pleasing to the eye in Randolph county who has him tied to her apron strings. He answers this accusation by saying he "loves them all."

John Wannamaker's definition of SUCCESS is applicable to "C. C.", since he has been "Trying, Trusting and Toiling" from the day he first matriculated as a freshman. As he shoulders the instruments and begins the survey of life's ragged trail, we predict a successful career.

"Tos strange that a happy-go-lucky chap like "Pop", possessing a wealth of experience gained from three years of aviation, two years "Campus Course" at another institution, and a family, should choose to spoil his sunny disposition by undertaking a vocation so full of agitation as Civil Engineering.
"Pop" had a crash as a climax to his flying career which did some damage to his head. This may have something to do with it, but there are some who maintain that his shortcomings were due to a bad case of "ticks" contracted under mysterious circumstances somewhere west of Raleigh.

In spite of all allegations though, "Pop" is a mighty good egg "bulling," a past master in the are of "legging," a firm believer in himself, and "knowing his stuff."

It has been a pleasure to be affiliated with this quiet, unassuming chap. Good natured, good hearted, and with a decidely good appearance, he is bound for success. Even though he hasn't as yet (so he says) found a partner to help him fight his battles of life, some of us who are intimately acquainted with him, are predicting a surprise amouncement soon after he receives his sheepskin. Leaving behind him a good scholasterecord well earned by four years of hard work. "Wysor" has the incentive which should make him a man of worldly affairs.

"Andy"

A clamor of bells—a dull roar as of distant thander—then "Raleigh! Raleigh!" From Pullman car, "Lily of the Valley," stepped a gaunt hewildered lad. He wore "rifle barrel" breeches that hit him about five inches to the port side of his shoe tops. In one hand was a suit case, in the other a model of "Babe" Ruth's famons bat. Such was the arrival of "Andy" at State.

In the past four years there has not been a hetter liked boy on the campus, than "Gump." He is pepular with the professors and one only needs to take a trip out to Meredith to see what the "weaker sex" think of him.

We hope "Andy" doesn't break "P-Foot's" heart by devoting time to the wholesale Tootsie Roll business. We are positive he will be successful in anything he undertakes. Here's best luck to "Andy Gump" Griffin, the pride of Monroe.

That's what the girls say of him. He will not deny that, but we do know that he impressed us as a man from the very first. And his life on the campus has more than substantiated this impression. He is small of stature, but tall in the qualities that make a gentleman and a student. Although he spends considerable time teaching lowly Freshmen to be respectful to upper classmen, playing practical jokes on fellow students, or sleeping on somebody's bed, during the afternoon,—"Runt" delivers the goods just the same. We make no predictions for this fellow. The success factors are too evident. His genial disposition, and his other good qualities places him in a class all his own. We don't mind this though because we can use him for a model.

"Skinny" has not mixed in the social affairs of Raleigh very much, but he claims that there is a good reason. From the number of letters he gets from Charlotte, we believe it is the girl back home that is drawing his attention.

Through our association with him we have learned that his one ambition in life is to acquire a cozy little "love nest" just outside his old home town, and settle down with his chickens—feathered, and otherwise.

His straightforward manner, his relentless efforts and his desire to accomplish something will surely earry him to great heights.

Although during his four years at this institution his record for activities and academic work has not been the most brilliant in the history of the college, it has been won honestly and shows good consistent work, backed by a real determination. He evidently believed that the best education could be acquired by attending a variety of schools, for he left South Carolina in order to become a member of "T-Foot's" noble army of "lint dadgers." It is commonly believed, however, that this step was only taken in order that he might completely reassure himself as to the desirability of reading Blackstone.

Truly "Cap'n, Boots" followed the proverbial saying: "March comes in like a lamb and goes out like a lion," for on his arrival, he applied himself diligently to his studies, despite the various attractions of our city. We all recognize "Sparky's" ability as a business man and as a checker player, but nevertheless we will not be surprised if he returns to State another year for research work in Biology for it is also generally known that he is interested very much in this field,

As "Mack" goes out in the world, we the class of '27, wish him success.

CHARLOTTE RUTH NELSON

Raleigh, North Carolina Vocational Education

Mars Hill Club.

"Charlotte"

"Charlotte"

"Charlotte" is a West Raleigh girl, and while she did not enter State College as a regular student until the Fall of 1926 she had attended several summer schools and was by no means a stranger to State College campus. She has the distinction of being the first "co-ed" to graduate at State College, and also of receiving a diploma from Meredith College the same year.

An excellent student, standing high in scholarship, she possesses a genuine thirst for knowledge, especially mathematics, and a willingness to work to obtain it.

Her personality, coupled with a pleasant disposition has made "Charlotte" many friends on the campus who will watch with pride her progress through life.

"C. M." "Deacon"

"C. M." "Deacon"

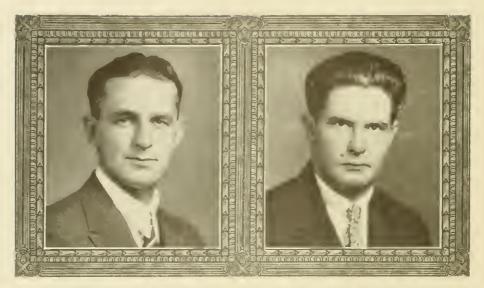

Here is a fellow who is conspicuous on the campus due to his quiet nature, and winning personality. He is good natured, easy going, full of wit, and has many other characteristics which will mean success for him in the future.

Probably his worst ailment is one which many others are afflicted with. This "disease" seems to be contagious and soon develops into a chronical state. For the sake of a better name we will call this dreaded disease, "Romantic Fever." In diagnosing his case we have seen him many times strolling in the general direction of Apex, N. C. Who knows what the outcome will be?

Allen, old top, we feel that you are going into a field of great service and we wish you much success.

success.

"Red"

"Red"

Take a squint at the one State College Student who has never been accused of "legging," If this ruddy young man doesn't know the answer to a question he says so, and refuses to hazard a guess on the subject. The professors like that attitude. Heek even asked him to sit in on his course a second term.

I'tter was once a mainstay in the backfield of Homewood's pig-skin aggregation. He would undoubtedly have continued as such with Tobell had he not found a keener enjoyment and more lucrative employment in dispensing sandwiches and milk.

When there is anything that Dr. Kaupp doesn't know about chickens he calls "Red" into conference.

"Red"

"Red" is a good natured, humerous, and congenial fellow of unusual aggressiveness. When in need of a friend, "Red" is always ready to lend a helping hand no matter what it may be. His good jokes and stories, which we all enjoy, are never exhausted. While with us, "Red" has made many friends on the campus and around Raleigh. When he starts out to do anything, mark you, he'll do it. He is harder to stop than to start. Studies never worry him for he just naturally "savvies," and why should he worry! Well, he wouldn't were it not for the fair sex. He says little about them but they have him just the same. Io "Red," the Electrical world has something to look forward to and from him we are all expecting great things in the future. The last lady he reports on says the same thing. "Red" is an all around good student and with his determination to win, we predict for him a great and successful future.

PAUL MILLARD SUTTON Seven Springs, North Carolina Mechanical Engineering

"Sut"

"Sut"

"Hell, I don't love her. I just like her candy and neck." That's "Sut." the elongated boy who has slouched along through four years of mud and come ont first in the opinion of every friend. He has a quiet and reserved manner that gives confidence in him and his ability, coupled with a determination that is the very foundation of his existence. Always the memory of this fellow will stay with his friends as a hright spot among the many dull and dreary things in life. May he never waver of falter till he reaches his goal.

"Runt"

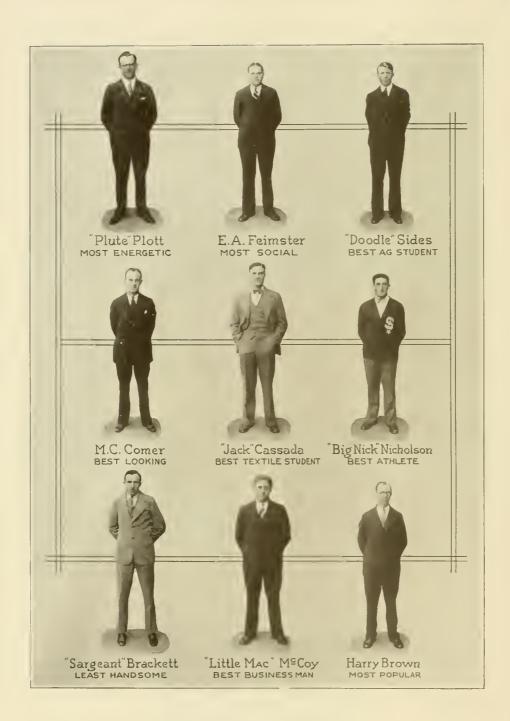

"Runt"

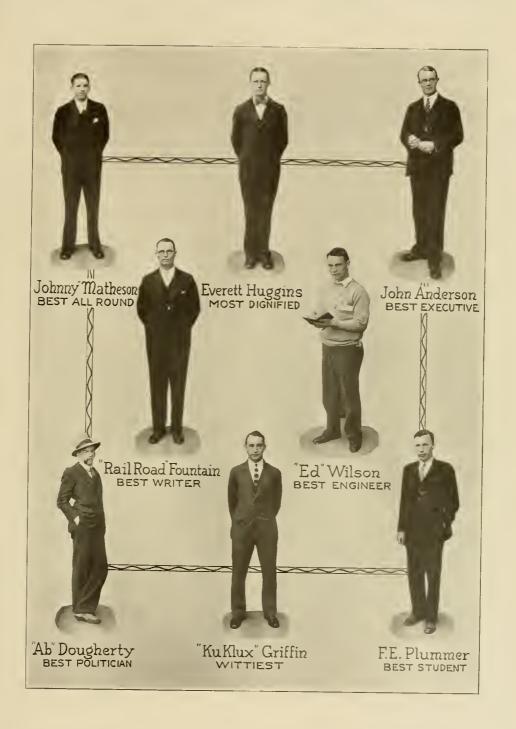

See him as the camera sees him. But alas! You caunot hear that soft, continuous, insistent voice pouring out enlightenment upon the minds of his classmates. An authority on etymology, well expressed in his speech, he always has the last word, in spite of vigorous protest on the part of Butler, his most frequent victim.

"Runt" and his pipe are as inseparable as "Runt" and his argument. He has become so proficient in the art of smoking that certain friends have threatened to give him to Uncle Sam to make smoke screens for the battle ships.

And yet one part of his career was as inscrutable as the expression of the Sphinx, until the beginning of bis Senior year when the Rosetta Stone, to a respectable bachelor career was revealed in the form of characteristic letters, as frequent in arrival at the "P. O." as a chain of freight cars in the Southern Railroad yards. Well! He's a good man lost to a noble cause.

History of the Senior Class

Tempus Fugit—some sage said a few hundred years ago, and the truth of that statement has in nowise been lessoned by the lapse of time since it was first made. True it is that time has flown for the class of '27 since we entered State College in the Fall of 1923. The four short, busy years have never seemed to drag or bear heavily upon us.

Four hundred strong, and four hundred green we entered College after two or three days of struggling with the intricacies of our first registration. We were as green as the Emerald Isle and as innocent as new-born babes of college pranks and collegiate styles, and could only wonder when the upper classmen all appeared in baggy clothes and "bell bottom" trousers. A few months, however, served to bring us into the fold and we, too began to have our clothes made by Stetson D. just like the regular fellows. Through the trials at the hands of the Sophomores we came diminished in numbers but undannted in spirit to the annual bath at the end of the year, to become washed free from Freshman traits and thinking by the upperclassmen. We were now officially the Campus Kings!

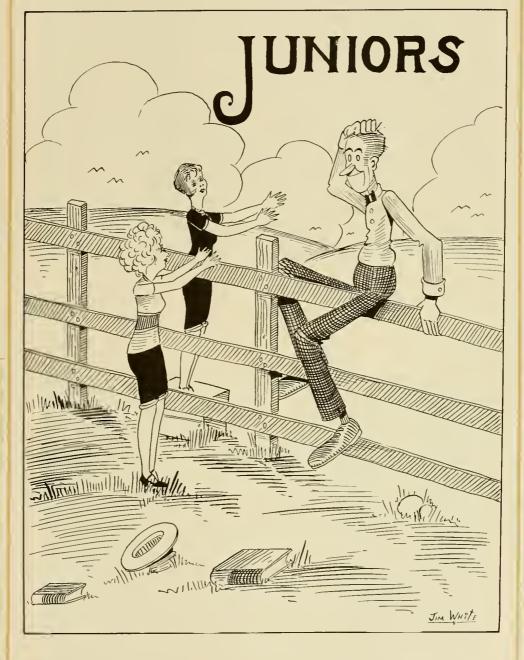

Our Sophomore year brought out the usual talent and originality in scheming against the poor Freshmen who had succeeded us. None could have been prouder rulers of the campus than those all-important Sophomores of the class of '27. Past the Stone Age of being a Freshman we asked nothing more of the world than that we might rule with an iron hand those beneath us. But time was pushing us hurriedly through our short stay at State and we were almost startled to find that we were so soon ready to sink into a year's obligation as Juniors before we should reach the exalted position of Seniors.

History repeats itself and another class had surmounted the throne of the Sophomoric rule, for guiding the erring feet of wayward Freshmen. Passed on the campus then we could hear the remark—"Oh! he's only a Junior," Our quietness as Juniors only stands as proof of our sincerity of purpose in our work at State.

Father Time again shifts the scene and we have blossomed out into Seniority with its accompanying dignity and responsibility. It is hard to believe that we are not again dreaming, and that we have really come to the last lap in the race which loomed so big before us when we first started. We look about us and miss the scores of faces which have disappeared from our ranks, as tangential particles from a swiftly revolving wheel.

A look at the four years which have just passed brings a sigh of relief at being freed from the responsibility of having them to go through again, followed closely by a sigh of regret at leaving our Alma Mater with its associations, its memories, its friendships, its trials, its rewards, its moments of pleasure, its hours of disappointment, its loves—and we almost wish we were just starting again. As we reflect further we find the same determination and pluck which carried us through the first registration just as ready to tackle the problems of life. As we leave, dear Alma Mater, it is with the hope that we may ever reflect credit on you, and that we may have our part in the making of a greater State College by our activities as alumni.

Junior Class History

O N a cold rainy day—it was the 17th of September, 1924, to be exact—499 boys came to State College for the first time to obtain a college education. We thought we were about the most prominent persons in the State, but after a few days we realized that we had among us those who were to look after us and see that we did not become too prominent.

We held our first class meeting and elected the following officers: W. I. Bigger, President; G. H. Fountain, Vice President; D. W. Uzzle, Secretary-Treasurer; O. J. Williams, Poet; J. S. Morris, Historian. As usual the morning after the first freshman class meeting, several large 28s were found at different places around the campus. That same morning you could also see large numbers of red caps bobbing up and down with their owners down on their knees scrubbing with all their might to erase the numerals—more Sophs around.

In an athletic way our class has given much to State College and we are justly proud of those from our class who have won fame on the gridiron, the track, the diamond, and the baskethall court. We are proud to be the first class at State College to participate in the Physical Education Program that has proved to be such a great success. This program was started after Christmas of our rat year under the supervision of J. F. Miller, Athletic Director,

At the beginning of the school year Seventh Dormitory was opened and those who did not room there visited it quite frequently, for it was then the most modern dormitory on the campus. After Christmas of that year the Frank Thompson Gymnasium was opened. The gym, which is one of the most complete in the South, is the center of all athletic life on the campus. Later on the overhead bridge was opened up connecting the newly developed part of the campus to the old. One morning during the spring term of our Freshman year we were awakened by a strange sound. Every one was curious, so out of the windows came heads to see what made this new sound. We found that the whistle on the new power plant had blown for the first time and the topic of conversation during the next week or two was the new whistle and the opening of our modern power-plant.

We came back to school after enjoying our first college summer vacation, determined to do better in all things we undertook. After making a few nightly rounds trying to show Freshmen how to act and still hold his dignity we settled down to enjoy the roll of a "wise fool." Under the guidance of "Joe" Hodgin, who was elected President before we left school the year before, we enjoyed a successful year. Our Class was represented on all four of the varsity teams, and on the State Championship basketball team of that year we had three men.

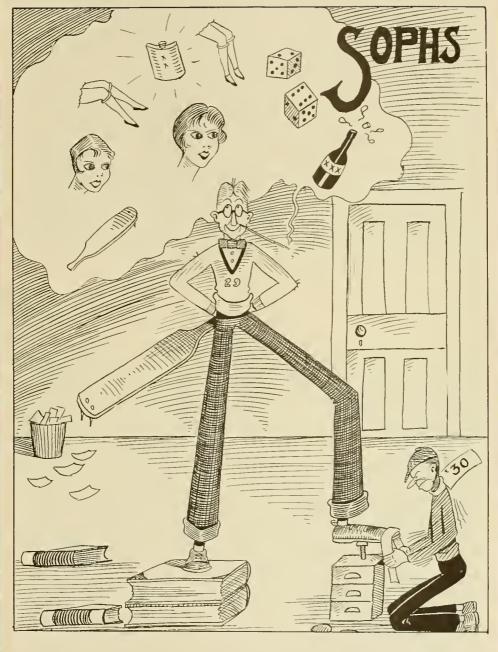

The building program that had been started the year before was still in progress during this year and we witnessed the opening of the D. H. Hill Library, one of the handsomest structures of its kind in the United States; Polk Hall, the new Animal Husbandry building; and the addition to the Textile Building. This addition necessitated the tearing down of the textile tower that had risen over the building since it had first been erected. On this tower each Sophomore class had painted its numeral and it was always a great time when this painting took place. The 28 that adorned that tower was the last numeral to be seen there. As the workers were tearing away the brick the thought that passed through many a mind was "No matter how old or great the tradition, things must give way to progress."

As we returned to school for our third lap many new problems confronted us, some of these we have solved, some will be solved in the future and there are some will never be solved. We are Juniors, and are trying to set an example for under-classmen so that they will not make the same mistakes we did.

Next year we will be Seniors and we hope that every man of the class of '28 will carry on the work that those before us have started and by so doing will make a bigger and better State College.

"For the structure that we raise Time is with materials filled Our todays and yesterdays Are the blocks with which we build."

Sophomore Class History

WHEN we think of history it comes to the mind as a narrative—on events arranged chronologically-whether a day, a year, a century, or a millennium ago. Just now we will speak of the events that have happened in the past two years, relating to the class of '29. Herein are a few events which have resulted from the class association of two years.

C

Ē

The class of '29 made its first appearance upon the State College Campus on the eleventh day of September, 1925. Ours was the first class in the history of the school to appear on the campus in advance of the upper-classmen.

We were a curious and motley array of individuals. We blissfully unsophisticated sons of the soil, trod the campus with our more enlightened brothren of the city. By the time the upper-classmen had arrived most of our awkwardness had worn away.

The Y. M. C. A., its assistants, and the faculty aided in every way to get us registered. When we had completed our registration, we became the proud possessors and sole owners of the "envied red caps." At this time the upper-classmen began to arrive.

Strange to say, the loval class of '29 did not possess the peculiar sense of humor that was required to furnish the amusement demanded by the "Sophs," so a little bolshevism invaded our midst in many ways. Least of all did we appreciate the latest steps of the Charleston taught us by the "Sophs," as they furnished free music with paddles.

Now that we had become acquinted with each other our thoughts centered on the organization of our class. A meeting of the Freshmen class was called by the president of the student hody, and we elected Beatty President and A. B. Holden Vice President.

At the beginning of our second term Beatty did not reënter school, in consequence A. B. Holden was elected President of the class, and Albright Vice President.

The class of '29 may look upon its athletic record with pride. Our football squad and baseball team showed up well. Our basketball quint and track team won State Championships. Our cross-country team was undefeated. Throughout the different seasons, the coaches kept a close watch on our athletes, scouting for Varsity material. To the Varsity football we have given the following men: Outen, Ford, Melton, Goodwin, Morris, Floyd, Vaughn, Moere and Albright.

The Varsity basketball welcomes Goodwin, Young, Holden, Trogen, Mason, Taylor, Owen, Scott, and Laurence.

In track we supply Melton, Loman, Smith, Royal, Gaston, Outen, Goodwin, Taylor, Young, Vinson, Scott, Vaughn, Rhyne, Greaves, Walker, McCaskill, and Merris. And for this year's baseball team we have promised many men. Thus the end of our Freshmen year found us with a record of which we are not ashamed.

New that we have grown so fond of our little red caps, we were accordingly asked to part with them. Each Freshman carried as his pass-key, an armfull of wood to the red diamond where a lonfire was made, and we pitched our caps in the rising flames.

On a cool night in May, at twelve o'clock, while the wind howled around the corners of the dormitories, each of us was aroused from our slumber to take our annual cold shower. Naturally, at this late hour, our dress was not very formal—as we appeared under the stream of water.

In one of our meetings toward the close of the year, we discussed hazing in detail, and went on record to do all we could to prevent it the coming year. Our last Freshmen class meeting was called for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year. At this meeting J. E. Moore was wisely elected President.

To us now in our new dignity, the Freshmen were green and awkward. We have tried our best to lead them in the path of the righteous. We have made it a special duty to see that each Freshman received proper care and instruction.

Now we have succeeded in placing our beautiful and symmetrical numerals on the most attractive places of our campus. Also, we have placed the numeral '29 at Meredith, Peace, and St. Mary's.

In the third month of our reign as Sophemores, our Christmas hollidays arrived and we went, each to his home, and rested from our labors. When we returned to take up our burdens, we hoped that the worst was over. We now await the approach of spring with hope in our hearts.

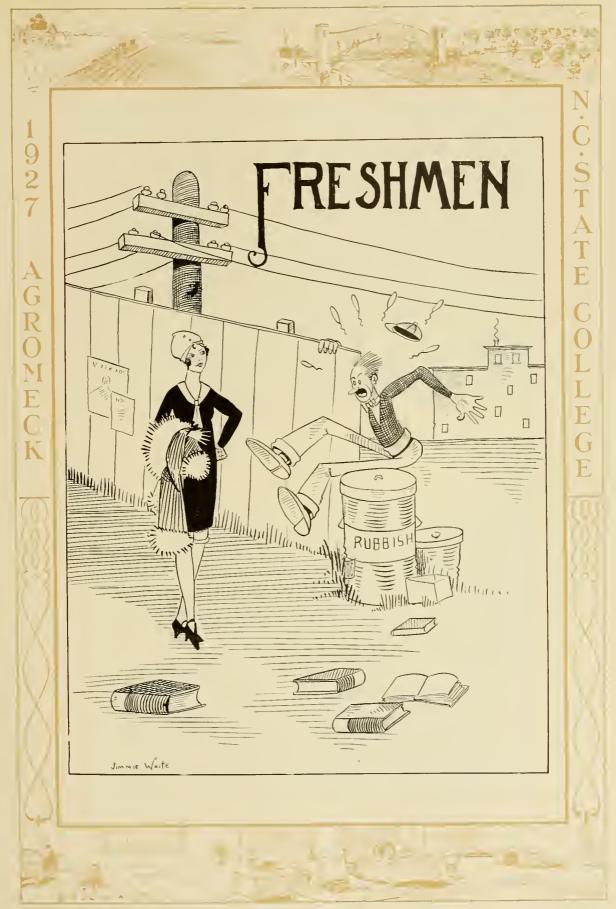

The class of '29 worked with the greatest success in connection with the other classes and organizations of the College, showing a great spirit of sincerity and cooperation.

We have fought a good fight; we have kept faith; and we have confidence in what the future holds for us.

So it's State again, State again, State College for me, My heart is turned to State again and here I long to be. In the place of dullness may intelligence I see, Where the air is full of sunshine and State College dwells with me.

C. C. Todd, Historian.

History of the Class of '30

R ECOLLECTIONS of the happy moments spent with childlike enthusiasm during the days of our high school career, free from the cares and troubles of college life, are still fresh in our minds.

It seems as if we have been awakened from a boyish dream by the shrill notes of the class whistle, to be brought face to face with the problems of a college man.

The days and even months have passed away with them, slowly, but steadily, our first impressions. Things have taken place that have undermined our thoughts, and we are fast learning that "All that glittered was not gold."

As Historian of the class of '30, 1 wish to relate the incidents that have taken place regarding our installation as members of the student body of N. C. State College, and the things that have aided or checked our progress to the present day. We feel that our accomplishments are worthy enough to be termed history and that just recognition of them should be made.

The six hundred and fourteen freshmen who were assembled in front of Holliday Hall on September 17, 1926 comprised the largest class ever enrolled in the history of this institution.

Many of these boys were leaving home for the first time and it was natural that they should be possessed with thoughts of those whom they had left behind. Many were the trips to the post office as night approached to see if brother, sister, or sweetheart had by chance sent them news from home.

That night and for many succeeding nights we were cordially entertained by the Sophomore Class who rendered a very interesting and varied program. This motley group of actors believed in the old adage that "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" and accordingly they gave us the privilege of carrying trunks and laundry and of scrubbing off numerals whose origin was very vague and indistinct. All this, however, was cheerfully taken and nothing serious resulted.

Nearly one hundred and fifty men answered Coach Homewood's call for football material and under his able direction developed into a state championship aggregation. Many of these men will furnish strong opposition for varsity births next year and much is expected of them. Our basketball team has also finished a very successful season, being in a tie with the Duke yearlings for first honors.

After we had roamed about for awhile like a ship without a rudder, we had our initial class meeting and elected the following officers: Harding, President; Cathey, Vice President; Daughtry, Secretary and Treasurer; McKenzie, Poet; and Gilkey, Historian. These officers immediately took charge and at our second meeting we chose navy blue and old gold as our class colors and the daisy for our class flower.

We are gradually developing into a well-oiled machine, which is so essential in carrying on any work that may come our way.

Those who were fortunate enough in passing the physical test are enjoying the problems of a soldier's life. Though unliked at first, we are fast learning the importance of the military training, and the benefits to be derived from it.

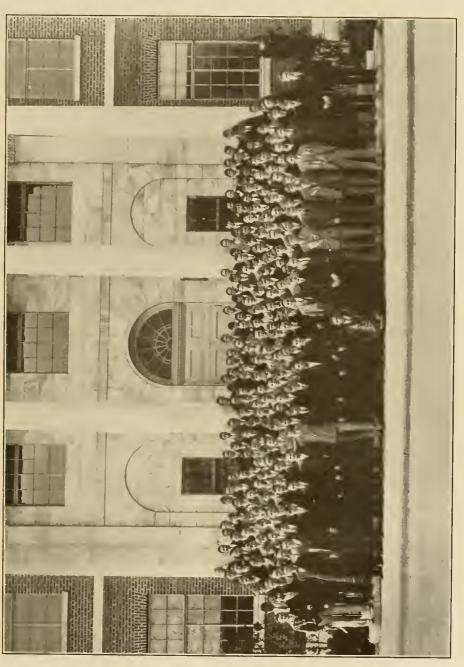

I wish to take this opportunity to congratulate the Y. M. C. A. of State College on the excellent work they are accomplishing. No other factor has aided us more in finding our hearings and in becoming accustomed to our new surroundings.

Though our ranks are somewhat depleted due to exams and natural causes, we have the same old spirit and loyalty which characterized our class at the very start.

Spring once more is fast approaching and with it a desire to be away. In lovelier scenes to pass these sweeter hours. The young man's fancy turns to vacation and thoughts of home. But let us press on, fellow classmates, toward the goal of our ambitions. The shining star of graduation is dimly visible in the distance and we must work to attain it. Let us always remember that success never comes without effort.

Carlton E. Gilkey, Historian.

Football 1926

Pre-season training on the "rugged shores of Lake Sega" in the mountains near Brevard was scheduled to make the Wolfpack a championship squad, but something seems to have gone wrong.

Elon was defeated as an opener, then five losses in a row, some real battles and some hard luck, put despondency in the hearts of State followers. Then came Dick Gurley's Mountain Bears to let us again into the "Win" column, and there the "Pack" stayed, but for one game, the rest of the season.

Duke fell, and fell hard, to keep us off the bottom rung in the State circles. Then came the big game on Thanksgiving, and as in the previous year, Wake Forest failed to have a reason for "painting the town."

A bad start-but a good ending-was indeed true for us.

THE WOLFPACK

STATE 10-ELON 0

Hot weather and frequent fumbles slowed up the season's opener, which Tebell's Wolfpack won 10.0. A 20 yard pass, McDowall to Beatty, and several short gains put the ball on the 3 yard line. Outen carried it over for State's first score of the season. In the last quarter Crum carried a punt back to the 25 yard line. Ridenhour kicked a goal from the 20 yard line. State made 10 first downs-Elon none.

PURPLE "HURRICANE" WAS RIGHT

"Red" Schnider and "Whitey" Rawls led the attack of Furman's Purple Hurricane as it (irristably) swept up and down Riddick Field for a 31-0 victory over the Wolfpack.

the Wolfpack.

State showed occasional flashes of form, and twice had the ball on the shadow of Furman's goal, but lacked the drive to carry it over. McDowall showed best for State, and once, after a stern chase down the field, downed Rawls on the one-yard line, after that diminutive flash had run 90 yards with an intercepted pass. Furman scored first on a pass following a blocked punt, and made other scores on fumbles, masses, end runs, and straight line plunges. This was the biggest defeat handed the Pack' at home for three seasons. George Hunsucker received a hurt in this game which kept him out for the remainder of the season. the season.

TIGERS WIN 7-3

The Tech eleven journeyed down to Clemson to eat the "Tiger," but the "Wolves" were scratched instead. McDowall passes often and well, but the ends failed to hold the ball, and scoring chances went a sniling. In the third period, State advanced the ball to the eighteen inch line where the Tigers held for downs. McDowall dropkicked from the thirty yard line for State's three points, while Eskew caught a pass and ran 45 yards for Clemson's winning score.

"DAD'S DAY" GAME A THRILLER

A lame Wolfpack, minus McDowall and Bynnm, celebrated State College's first "Dads' Day" by playing Davidson's State Championship Wildcats to a standstill except for a few minutes in the last period when Dick Grey booted a ball over the posts for the points that won the game 3-0. Both teams battled fiercely throughout the play, and showed a powerful drive when io mid-field ontstanding player of the day, his runs, passes, and kicks gaining much of the ground accredited to the Wolfpack. This was the prettiest and best played game in the early part of the season.

LOSE IN LAST MINUTE

A pass—a 36 yard run down the sideline—a touchdown. Such, in the closing minutes of play, spelled defeat for the Wolfpack against the V. M. I. Cadets at Richmond. Goal was kicked, and the score stood V. M. I. 7—State 0. Onten, McDowall, Captain Logan, and Ridenhour were the outstanding performers for the Wolfpack. The high spot of the game for State was the air tight defense displayed when four downs failed to earry the ball five yards for a Cadet touchdown.

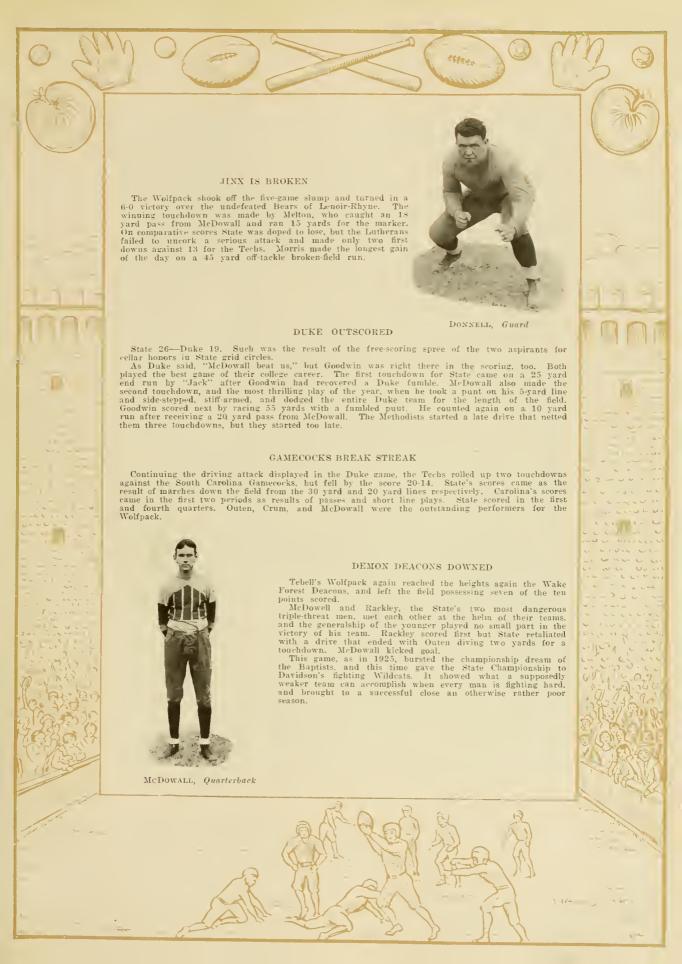

EMERSON FIELD FATAL

Playing on Emerson Field for the first time since 1894, the Wolfpack held the Tar Heels scoreless for three periods, though the ball was in their territory most of the time. The last quarter saw the Carolina backs break through and away for a pair of markers Score 12-0.

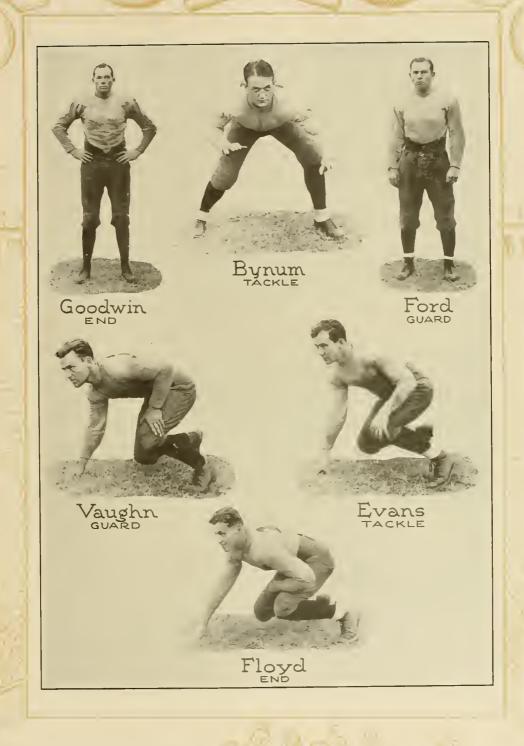

Outen was the only State back able to gain consistently, he and Melton did excellent punting to keep the score to what it was, and they, with Morris, Nicholson, Logan, and Evans, were the main cogs in the Tech defense. McDowall was out because of injuries. The Carolina attack was smooth and powerful, while the State team as usual lacked offensive strength.

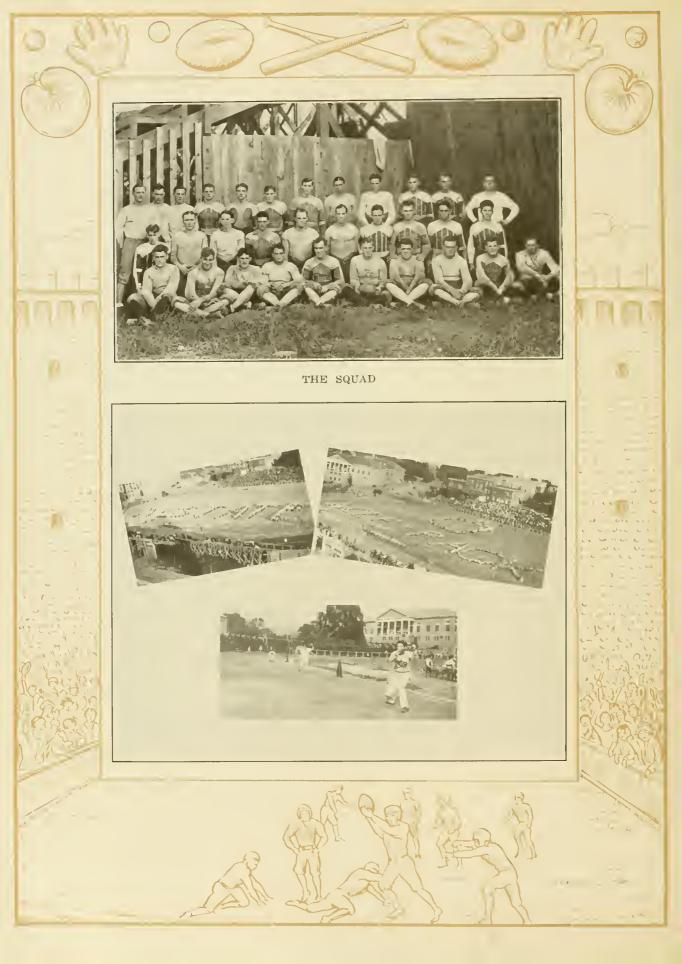

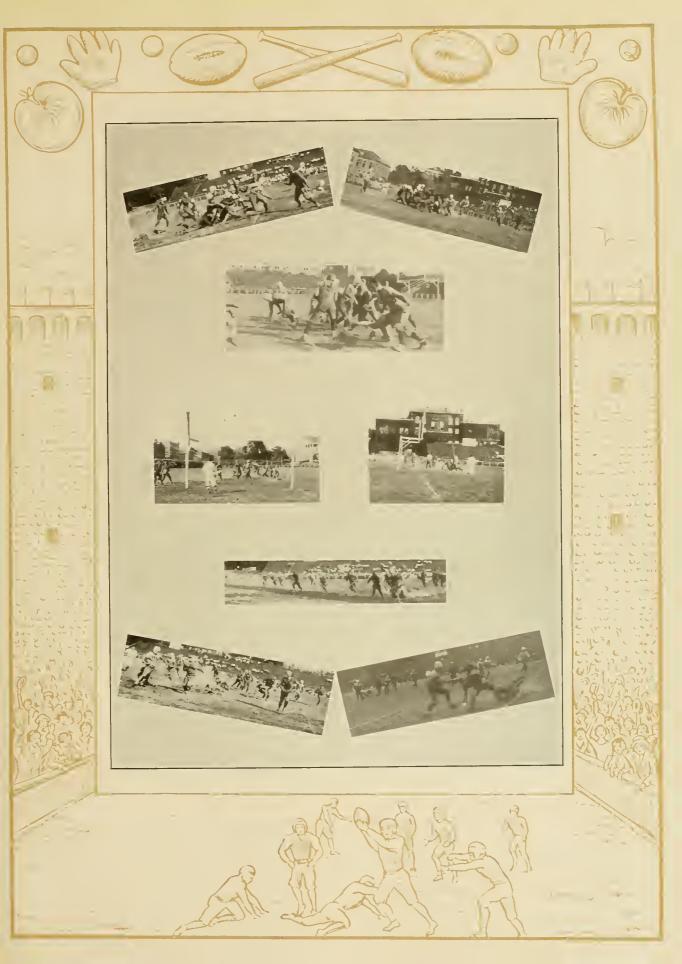

OUTEN, Fullback (All-State)

State Champion Freshmen

Coaches Drennan and Homewood had promising material for their Frosh gridders, and they made the most of it. Four wins and a scoreless tie was not so had for a season's record, and the 30's proudly possess the championship flag for North Carolina first year teams.

MANAGER DOUGHERTY

CAPTAIN WARREN

The ends and backfield were especially strong, with Childress, Lattimer, Lepo, Adams, Lecka, and Captain Warren as the main luminaries. With these men to run and pass, 1927 football bids fair to rise above the level of the past few seasons.

"CHIC" DOAK

1926 Baseball

After a State Championship team in 1924 and a very successful team in 1925, State College, as well as other colleges in the State, took a decided slump in baseball in 1926. Coach "Chick" did well with the men he had, but the loss of "Dntch" Holland, "Red" Lassiter, and others of like fame, and the inexperience of his hurlers, was too great a handicap for a winning team.

The high spots of the season were the two victories over the Tar Heels, making it "six in a row" over University nines.

STATE LOSES AGAIN

The "Gamecocks" of the University of South Carolina administered the third defeat to "Chick's" nine by the score of 12 to 1. Morrison failed to hold, and allowed twelve hits and six walks. With one away in the eighth, Wade singled to left field and scored on a double by Harrill for State's only run.

WOFFORD RAINED OUT

The Terrier team from South Carolina came up for a visit, but the weather man prohibited a display of their wares on the diamond.

ELON GETS REVENGE

Elon evened the season's count by defeating State 5-2. A hit batter, error, walk, triple, and two singles counted for Elon's total, all in the fatal seventh inning. Up until this time, there had been a tight pitchers battle between Beal and Fogleman. State's first score came when C. Faulkner got on first by a fluke hit and was sent in home by Gilbert. The final score came in the ninth when Wade hit a three-bagger and stretched it to a homer on a fielder's error.

WILDCATS WIN SERIES

State dropped a two-game series to the Wildcats. In the first game Davidson drove in ten runs in the first few innings and defeated the Doakmen for the first time since 1923. The Techs came back strong in the late innings and piled up eight runs, but not enough to win. Shelton, Matheson, and Wade were called on for mound duty, but were ineffective.

On the following day State again tasted defeat when the Wildcats retired them under a deluge of hits that netted them 11 runs to 2 for the Techs. Wade was the Tech leader at the bat, getting a single and a double out of three trips up. Morrison and Wade were the hurlers for State.

WOFFORD DOWNED

"Chick's" team pounded 16 hits to all corners of the lot to defeat Wofford 15-2. The Terrier pitcher was knocked from the box in the fourth. His successor allowed but one hit, though the lead was too great for them to overcome. Harrill led the day's batting with four hits, and "Croaker" parked the ball over the left field fence for a homer. Beal pitched a good game.

FURMAN WINS

Morrison, Shelton, and Matheson failed to stop the hitting streak of the Furman squad, and were defeated 9-3. Gilbert and Wade both had hits and stolen bases checked up to their credit.

CLEMSON 11—STATE 5

The Clemson Tigers, at home, defeated the State nine 11 to 5 in a loosely played game. Wade and Matheson pitched for State unable to tame the Tigers.

DUKE NOSED OUT

State downed Duke in a ten-inning thriller by the score of 5-4. This was the best game seen on Riddick Field in '26. "Rooster" Beal pitched a great game of ball for the Techmen. Charlie Shuford made a beautiful catch in the tenth when the score was tied. He jumped high into the air and caught Weaver's long drive to left field. "Charlie" also won the game, after saving it, by driving out a triple to right field and scoring when Vick hit a hard roller to Cranford.

STATE WINS AGAIN

The next victim was the Lenoir-Rhyne, nine, which fell by the score of 10 to 2. Beal pitched a good game, giving up only a single, a triple, and a walk. Wade hatted out two triples, and Charlie Shuford likewise parked one in the bleachers. Moose relieved Homesly in the seventh, but fared no better than his predecessor.

YELLOW JACKETS TAKE SERIES

Results far different from the memorable series of 1924 came out of the pair of games with the Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech. These hard-hitting players easily won the first game 10-2, but barely nosed out the Doakmen 7-5 in the second battle. Both games were featured by home runs and good fielding. Green, Beal, and Morrison did the mound work for State in these two games.

TAR HEELS FALL

By overcoming a two-run lead which the Tar Heels piled up in the second inning, the Techmen won to the tune of 8 to 6. Beal and Green were hit hard, but tightened up in the pinches. C. Shuford, Wade, and Austin collected two hits each for State, while Young of Carolina connected four times out of five trips to the bat.

LONE RUN SPELLS DEFEAT

A lone run spelled defeat for State in the game with Lenoir-Rhyne. By overcoming a three-run lead in the eighth inning and scoring the winning run in the ninth, Dick Gurley's nine was able to defeat the Techmen 8-7. Beal held the Lutherans at his mercy until the eighth frame by allowing only three hits, but in this round they gathered five singles, four of which were in succession.

BAPTISTS MAKE IT TWO

The Baptists downed State's nine for the second time by the score of 5 to 0. Beal started the mound work for the Doakmen but was driven to the showers in the fifth inning, when two runs were made on errors and a two-base hit. Green, who relieved Beal, pitched a good game, allowing no runs during the last four innings.

DUKE EVENS UP

The Blue Devils of Duke University won a close game with "Chick's" nine by the score of 3-2, making the second one-run victory of the year between these two teams, State having won the first 5 to 4. This was one of the hardest fought and most interesting games of the season for both teams. Green pitched a good game for State, the score being tied for six innings. The winning run was made by Weaver.

STATE REPEATS

In the last game of the season the Doakmen downed the Tar Heels with little trouble by the score of 8 to 2. The superior hitting of "Chick's" nine combined with several costly errors by the Tar Heels cost them the game. This gave State a clean slate with the University lads for the past three years. Beal pitched, and permitted only seven widely scattered hits.

ALBRIGHT, Captain

TEBELL, Coach

Freshman Baseball

Characterized by a powerful offense and a negligible defense, the freshman nine hung up a college "record" by winning one game out of eleven. Opposing teams were forced to run themselves to death to defeat the yearlings on most occasions, but in several instances the youngsters defeated themselves by wobbling at critical stages.

1927 Basketball

With the 1926 State Champions intact but for one man, and a Champ Freshman team from which to choose his successor, great things were expected of the 1927 Red Terrors. At that, 12 victories out of 17 games is not so bad, but the ones lost were games that hurt. Four of them counted in the State figures, and the fifth spelled the end to Southern Conference aspirations,

Outside our own State, Tebell's Techs have claim to the championship of Virginia, with no defeats, and victories over four Old Dominion quints, to their credit.

Three of the State stars of '25, '26, and '27—Brown, Gresham, and Watkins, played their last game in a Red and White uniform down at Atlanta, and their absence will be marked in the teams to come.

OFF WITH THE LID

With an offence somewhat ragged, the 1926 Champions still outclass the Rocky Mount "Y" and had little trouble running up a 38-16 score. At times the team worked like clockwork, and the counters mounted accordingly, but at others the play was erratic, and the basket proved too clusive for results.

A. C. C. LOSES

The "Little Christians" came over from Atlantic Christian College for a visit, and were royally entertained. Tchell's Techs still showed the raggedness of the first game, but after a close and hard-fought first period, came back to win decisively.

Brown Center

DICK GURLEY AGAIN

A greatly improved team of Champions took the floor against the Lutheraus from Lenoir-Rhyne and left it with the top-heavy part of the 55-24 score. Harry Brown nearly won the game alone, with 20 points to his credit, and both Watkins and McDowall played no small part in the flood of goals both by their air-tight gnarding and splendid shooting.

TOTTERING

With the score 18-18, Captain Ober dribbled in and shot a goal for the two points by which Wake Forest downed the 1926 Champions. Neither team showed superiority in guarding or floor work, Wake Forest leading three points at the half, and dragging behind in the last period, up until the fatal free and field tosses that put them in the lead at the final whistle.

UP AGAIN!

Duke, at home, started off with a bang, but like March, they ended with scarce a sound. After a lead in the opening minutes, the Techs reached their stride and used system to come out on top, 36 to 22. Brown scored high for State, with a dozen marks, while McDowall and Watkins played their usual good game in the defeosive positions.

DOWN AGAIN

As at Wake Forest, one lone goal was the margin of victory of the Deacons over Tebell's Terrors. Hard-fought from beginning to end, the time-keeper's whistle stopped the play at a deadlock. A wild fool shot by Owens, of Wake Forest, failed to break the knot, and an extra period began. Dowtin, star Deacon forward, took good aim from a point far back on the sidelines, and the only, and winning, shot of the five minutes extra went sailing through the loop.

WHERE ARE THE "GATORS"?

A gymnasium full of impatient fans waited lond and long for the University of Florida quint. But in vaint for next morning's paper located them "way down South in Dixie." Mix-up in dates was responsible.

CHAMPIONS OF VIRGINIA?

1. In the first of the three battles of the Virginia trip, the V. M. I. Cadets held State scoreless for ten minutes, and kept the lead until the last ten minutes. State speeded up as the game progressed, and nosed out a 30-24 win. Brown, Spence, and McDowall were the shining lights for the Techs.

- 2. Tied at the half-time, a last minute rally, led by Captain Gresham with 5 points, again overcame a dangerous lead, and Washington & Lee followed V. M. I, in losing to North Carolina State—final score—41 to 34.
- 3. In a ragged but hard-fought contest, Tebell's Red Terrors made it three in a row by defeating Virginia 13 to 9. Six minutes passed before a score was made, and only nine field goals were shot during the entire period. Brown, with four of State's five field shots and with a pair of fouls, scored more than the Cavalier quintet.

ALL HOPES BLASTED!

With two losses in the State already, the unexpected 40·20 upset at the hands of the Southern Champion Tar Heels put State definitely out of the running for the State Flag. The Terrors failed to get going, while the Phantoms hit a wide-open streak and made the most of it. 'Nuf Sed.

BETTER

Jack McDowall and his 15 points furnished the chief thrills and the best basketball of the season in the last half of the Davidson encounter. Held to a 15:15 tie at the mid-point, Tebell's Terrors opened up with real form in the closing minutes to swamp the Wildcats 32 to 20.

SPENCE Forward

with an even dozen counters.

Making it unanimous for the year, the Carolina Phantoms left the Frank Thompson Gym with the top of the 19-13 score. Good defensive work featured both teams, with neither being up to form in passing or shooting. Harry Brown and Williams played the best games for the "ex"-champs.

TAR HEELS REPEAT

ANOTHER VIRGINIAN By taking an early lead the Red Terrors were able to withstand a V. P. I. rally in the last balf, and defeated the Gobblers by the count of 29 to 24. "Don" Childress entered his first varsity game, and proved himself a worthy running mate to "Jack" McDowall. Jack, however, upheld his reputation and led the floor in scoring

WILLIAMS Forward

THE DEVILS AGAIN!

Duke-seven points ahead at the half and nine points a few seconds after. Things looked bad for the Techmen. But, calling on an unexpected reserve attack. Tebell's Warriors started in earnest, and with Spence and Childress leading the way, staged a drive that tied the score and put the Red and White over the Blue and White to the tune of 29-23.

"OLD LINERS" FAIL

Twice conquerors of the Tar Heels, Maryland's quint was absolutely helpless before the driving pitiless game of the Techmen, and the closing gun found the State second string holding them safely in check. The Red Terrors played undoubtedly the hest game of the season, and deserved to win as they did, 38 to 23.

CURTAIN DOWN!

Scoring 13 points before the Christians scored a one, the Techmen in the second half made up for their slowness in the first which allowed Elon to lead until a minute before the midwhistle. Thus with Spence, McDowall, and Goodwin leading the attack, closed the final home game of the 1927 season.

THE TOURNAMENT

Journeying to Atlanta with an imposing conference record, Tebell's Techmen, as usual, picked a hard row to follow, and were eliminated in the first round by the University of South Carolina "Gamecocks." For the first time in three years, State failed to reach the second round, and also for the first time, the winner over State failed to reach the finals. South Carolina fell before Vanderbilt, who the next night defeated Georgia, victors over Carolina, for the Southern Conference Title.

Frosh State Champions

Unlike their big brothers, the Red Terrors, Doc Sermon's green-jerseyed Freshmen played fast and sparkling basketball all season to win their second State title of the year. With Leeka at center, Warren and Adams at guard, and Captain Johnson, Haar, or Lattimer at forward, a real team was on the floor—a team which rightfully won State honors.

CAPTAIN BROWN

SERMO: Coach

Track 1926

Much to the surprise of students and others, the 1926 track season was one of the most successful in the history of State College. The star track and field men of 1925 were here no more, a new and unfamiliar coach was in charge, and a harder schedule than usual was prepared—all tended to open the season with anything but optimism. "Where there is a will, there is a way" proved true, and "Doc" Sermon had the will. He worked long and faithfully in building up and training his squad, and gave us the following record to review with pleasure, the only dual meet lost being with Carolina. Southern Conference Champions.

THE SQUAD

STATE 120-ELON 6

By piling up the score of 120-6 against Elon "Doc's" cindermen showed much greater strength than was expected in the opening meet. State took every first place save one, McPherson of Elon winning the javelin throw. This meet was held on Riddick Field.

DUKE NOSED OUT

In the second meet State defeated Duke University 64½ to 61½ at Durham, in one of the closest meets of the season. State took eight first places in the fourteen events. Sides of State, was high scorer with eight points

CADETS OUTCLASSED

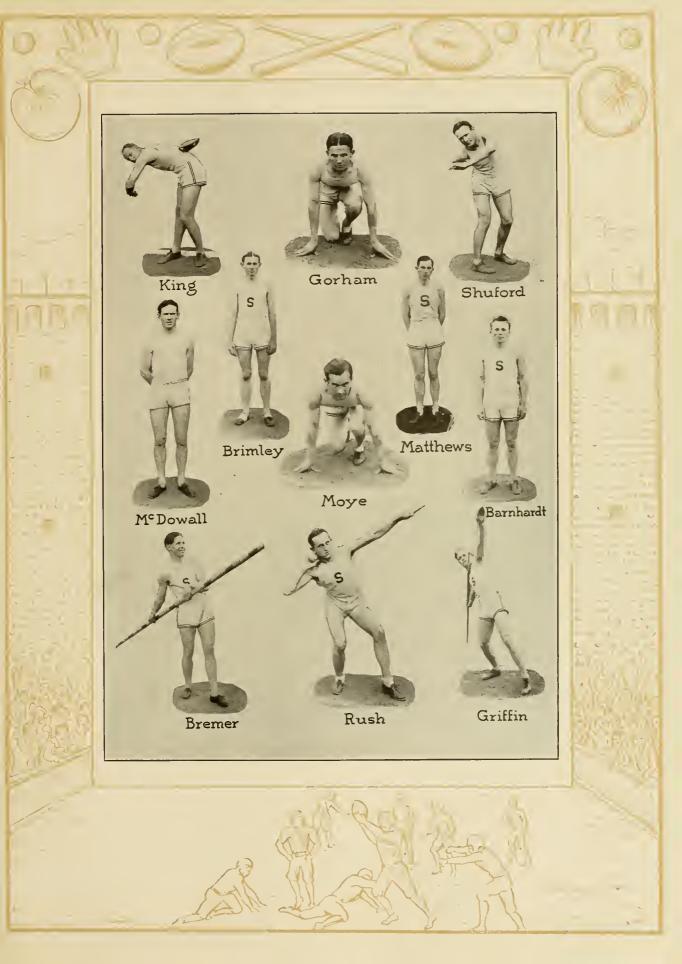

The next was with the Flying Cadets of V. M. I., but they failed to fly fast enough and State continued to win, defeating them by the score of 74-52. State showed superiority in the dash and distance men. Sides, of State, and White, of V. M. I., tied for scoring honors with ten points each, with McDowall closely following with a total of nine and one-half points.

W. & L. MEET CLOSE

The next victim for State was the General squad, which received the small end of the 64½ to 61½ score. State took seven first places and McDowall and Matthews tied for first place in the high jump. Black, of State, was high scorer with 11 points to his credit.

Sides, Captain-elect

WAKE FOREST FOLLOWS SUIT

State won the next meet, with Wake Forest, by the score of 91-4-15 to 34-11-15. The Tech cindermen took eleven first places but Daniel, of Wake Forest, scored high for the day with sixteen points. State was especially strong in the weights and distance runs.

SECOND IN STATE MEET

In the State Meet, which was held on Riddick Field, State Scored 46%, points. Jack McDowall set a new State Record in the high jump by clearing the bar at six feet and five-eights inches. Spurlock of Lenoir-Rhyne was high scorer with nineteen points. Carolina won the meet with 89% points.

TAR HEELS WIN LAST DUAL MEET

The Tar Heels administered the first defeat of the season, in a dual meet, to the State eindermen by taking the top side of the 82-44 score. Sides, of State, won the 440, and took second in both the 220 and the 100 yard dashes, thus taking scoring honors with eleven points. Bremer won first place in the pole vault, and McDowall and Matthews tied for first in the high jump.

McDOWALL, MATTHEWS, AND WRIGHT PLACE IN SOUTH-ERN MEET

In the Southern Conference meet, which was held at Chapel Hill, State scored six and one-half points, more than any other Tech team has ever done in like competition. Record after record fell, although the field and runways were heavy and slow because of rain. Jack McDowall tied for first place in the high jump, and Matthews tied for third in the same event. J. J. Wright can a thrilling race in the mile, but was only able to place fourth.

LAMBE

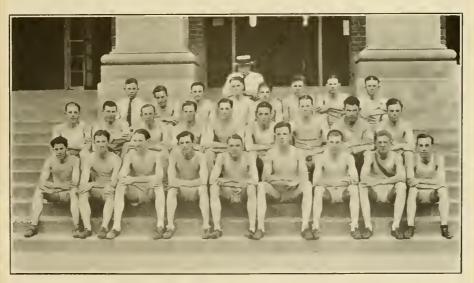

Freshman Track

Sammy Homewood coached his track and field men to the second Championship of North Carolina for his Freshmen teams of the scholastic year 1925-26. By winning a dual meet with Carolina, dropping one to Duke by three points, and decisively capturing the State Meet, the Frosh cindermen held premiers honors in first year track circles.

Freshman Minor Sports

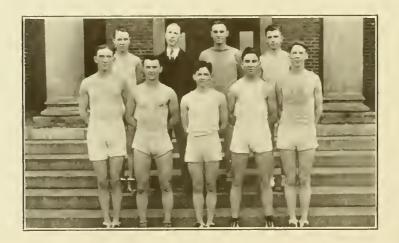

Freshman minor sports have only recently taken a place in N. C. State College athletic circles. Freshman Cross-country teams have been in the competition for several seasons, but this year saw the first Freshman wrestlers on the mat as a team. In this sport, no regular schedules are carried out, but meets are arranged with nearby teams as opportunities occur.

N. C. State College Annual High School Basketball Tournament

THE N. C. State College Invitational Basketball Tournament was inaugurated at the college in 1926. The purpose of the tournament was to gain a contact between the high schools of the State and State College. In the past no opportunity whatever had been provided for this contract. It was decided that in view of the State elimination as sponsored by the University, that a basketball tournament open to all high schools was the best chance.

The success of the first year of the Tournament was far beyond the anticipation of the Department of Physical Education. Seventy-two schools entered teams and played sixty-eight games in two and one half days. The teams were divided into three classes so that the competition would be on an equal basis according to the size and classification of the high school. Leaksville won Class A with Charlotte a runner-up; Lumberton won Class B with Roanoke Rapids a runner-up; Woodland won Class C with Friendship a runner-up.

The response to the Tournament this year doubled that of the first year. It was necessary to limit the number of teams participating. Fifty-eight teams, evenly divided between the three classes played fifty-five games without a hitch. Raleigh won Class A with Greensboro as runner-np; Dunn won Class B with Roanoke Rapids runner-np; Prospect won Class C with Everetts runner-np. Such keen disappointment was evident among the seven hundred high school boys who were refused entrance, that it is planned to extend the tournament to four days next year and again hold an open tournament with no limitations.

The satisfaction and praise for the tournament which has been expressed all over the State, commending the smoothness of organization and the type of host that N. C. State proved herself to be, was due to the coöperation of the students with the Department of Physical Education. The students seemingly get such keen satisfaction ont of being able to do a real piece of service for the college, that it is felt that no hesitancy need be had to extending the Tournament next year to four days.

In Review

UNDER the efficient tutelage of Major Early and his staff the R. O. T. C. regiment at North Carolina State College in the last two years has made rapid and amazing progress.

The regiment in 1926 barely missed getting a "Distinguished College" rating and would probably have made it this year, 1927, had not certain complications arisen to prevent the inspection for the desired rating.

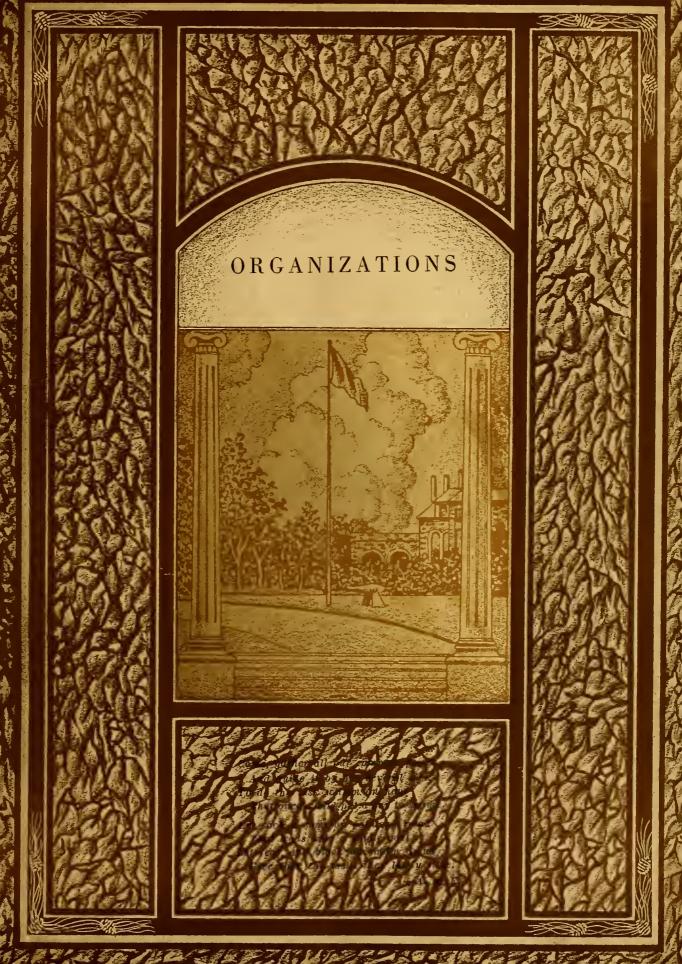

New life due to new methods has brought a spirit into the regiment which is evidenced by good drilling from the squad as a unit up to the regiment. The class room work is on a par with any in the fourth crop area; and the two combined is turning out well drilled, disciplined, and instructed reserve officers.

A R O M E C

The records in drill, marksmanship, soldierly qualities, athletics, and gentlemanly conduct made during summer encampments has been of such merit that favorable comment is often spoken and written about by military authorities, and it is a thing that the College can well be proud of.

The popularity of military training at State is evidenced by the fact that most of the campus leaders are taking it. Outstanding scholars, athletes, and leaders in other campus activities take military and pride themselves because of the fact; and because there is pride in such things State College is gradually becoming more and more recognized as a desirable place to get an education with military training as a part of it.

During the six years that Student Government has prevailed at State College there has been a decided improvement in the conduct and morale of those who make up the citizenship of this institution.

As a result of Student Government the members of the faculty have been able to devote more time and thought to their work. The student body has become more efficient and self-reliant.

The success of Student Government at N. C. State College has caused the authorities and students here to recognize and appreciate the only efficient form of democratic college government. It has been and will continue to be a very definite factor in the great success of this institution—J. F. M.

P. W. PRICE Director of Music

Department of Music

Although young the Department of Music is a source of pride at State College.

Prior to 1918 there had been a Military band, but its only function was to play for the military parades that were staged in a disultary manner two or three times each college year. One of the chief duties was to assist in the inanguration of each succeeding governor, while another was to play at Decoration Day exercises. A director from the city of Raleigh was hired to come out one day each week and drill the band in parades. It was a good military band but nothing more. During this period the band assisted very little in the athletic program.

From 1918 to 1924 the band was directed by a member of the faculty, this work being handled by Professor P. W. Price, of the Textile Department.

Under the direction of Mr. Price the band grew in strength and popularity, quickly coming to have · a State wide reputation as a musical organization of high repute. It took on a greatly widened scheme of activity, giving, in addition to its military parades, concerts at athletic contests and on sundry other occasions.

E

With the advent of the reorganization policy of Dr. E. C. Brooks at the beginning of the college year 1923-24 musical endeavor at State College took courage and became ambitious. An independent male quartet gained much favor and comment.

As a means of giving a technical student body a more broadening education, a Department of Music was established in the fall of 1924. Mr. Price was made Director of Music in recognition of his high ability as a coach and Director of music, as demonstrated while he was in charge of the military band in connection with his duties as a teacher in the college.

It soon became evident that a new era of music had opened at State College.

A Glee Club was organized, using the quartet of the previous year as a unit around which to build.

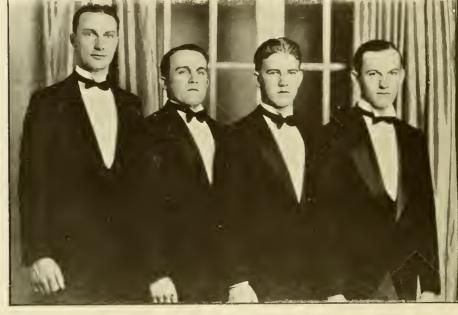

An orchestra was formed, which worked with the Glee Club in putting on programs in the college auditorium and in several towns and cities throughout the State.

Mr. Price realized an old ambition by organizing a concert band, which soon threatened to overshadow the older organization, the military band.

The quartet gained in popularity and in variety of service, and soon came to have a reputation for music of a high type, not only in the field of comic harmony, but from the choir lofts of the churches of Raleigh and other cities of the State.

Mr. Price who had recently held the rank of Captain in the R. O. T. C. by virtue of his work with the military band, was now given the rank of Major in recognition of his invaluable services in that organization.

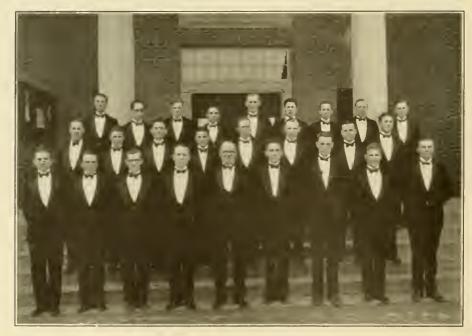

Today the musical organizations, due to the untiring efforts of Major Price, assume a position second to none in the State, and compare favorably with any in the South.

THE General Alumni Association, as stated in the preamble to the constitution, was organized "to promote the interests of State College and to foster among its former students sentiments of regard for one another, an attachment to their Alma Mater, and the ideals of service to their fellow men."

All former students of the college are members of the Association.

The financial obligations of the members of the Association are stated in a special division of the By-Laws, which is quoted in full as follows:

DHES

Section 1. The annual dues for membership in the Association shall be Three Dollars ($3.00), excepting those members who have paid for life.

Section 2. Dues for life membership shall be Fifty Dollars ($50.00), payable in a lump sum, or in two annual installments of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00).

Section 3. One dollar out of every three dollars collected shall be turned over to the Committee on Athletics for the purpose of promoting athletics in the College. The remaining two dollars shall be devoted to the current expenses of the Association, or as specifically directed by the Executive Committee.

THE DIX SYSTEM OF CLASS REUNIONS

Beginning with the 1927 Commencement, which will be held June 5th to 7th inclusive, with Monday, June 6th, set aside as Alumni Day, old grads of North Carolina State College will gather once more on the campus according to the Dix System of class reunions.

Briefly, the Dix System may be outlined as follows:

There will be no essential difference in the frequency of meeting, as each class will assemble at West Raleigh five times in nineteen years, but the new system brings back each year a group of contemporary classes, thereby "re-creating for a short period, undergraduate life."

During this 19-year period a class meets with every other class with which it was contemporary in college. For example: The class of 1910 is due to meet this year along with the classes of 1907, 1908, and 1909. It occupies the position of Freshman, for when '10 matriculated, '07 were Seniors. In 1931, '10 has moved to the other end of the schedule and meets with '11, '12, and '13. This time it occupies the position of Seniors. In 1936 it has stepped down to Juniors, and in 1941 the class of 1910 will come back as Sophomores. In 1946, the class will again occupy the position of Freshmen, thus completing the cycle, as nineteen years will have elapsed since the class occupied this same position in 1927.

On the last page of this folder the schedule of class reunions, according to the Dix System, for all classes from 1893, our first graduating class, through 1928, is printed.

The numerals printed in italics, beginning with '02 and running diagonally across the page indicate special 25-year reunions in case a class wishes to celebrate its 25th year out of college.

The schedule of reunions for the classes subsequent to 1928 has not been worked out, but this information will be available in ample time to prepare for the reunions.

Superimposed upon the regular Dix System, our Alumni Committee on Class Reunions and Organizations has provided for a reunion of each class the year following graduation. Thus, the class of 1926 will come back this year, in addition to assembling in its regular order under the Dix schedule. Similarly, each succeeding class will come back a year after graduation to see that the Juniors under them are properly made over into alumni.

This year at commencement it happens that the classes of 1907, 1908, 1909, and 1910, in addition to 1926, are due for reunions. Usually nine classes return annually, but in 1927, the lower bracket of the schedule calls for the assembling of the classes of 1888, 1889, 1890, and 1891. Our first class, of course, was not graduated until 1893. The classes scheduled this year have held reunions within the last 5-year period, but in order to get the new schedule in operation, these classes are invited to assemble again this year.

Additional information relative to the approaching reunions, including the program, etc., will be forwarded later to the individual class members.

Motto: More Cleveland County Men For State College

Cleveland County lies just in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina. She is not too distant to miss the wonderful beauty and freshness of the mountains, nor is she too close as to prevent large scale farming. We do not claim that Cleveland is the best county in the State, but in many respects she has no superior. For instance, Cleveland has more miles of rural power and light lines than any county in the United States.

Cleveland has produced and is producing many of the leaders of the campus, as well as leaders in the State.

Craven County Club

Colors: Red and Black

FLOWER: Black-cyed Susan

MOTTO: Craven, where only the best is good enough

The Craven County Club was organized in the fall of 1918. The purpose being to bring about a closer relationship among the Craven County men on the Campus and to create an interest in Craven County and its development.

Craven is a large county stretching along the banks of Neuse River and is one of the most interesting counties in the State from a historical point of view. The name Craven was derived from Earl Craven, one of the Lord Proprietors. New Bern, the second oldest town in North Carolina and County seat of Craven was settled in 1710 by the Swiss.

International Relations Club

Colors: Vibgyor Flower: Orchid

Motto: The bonds of brotherhood surmount all barriers of nationality or creed

THROUGH the fusion of the Interstate and Cosmopolitan Club, this Chapter of the organization known as the International Relations Club found birth on our Campus, February 21, 1927. This is a national organization founded by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, and has Chapters in many of the College sof our country.

The purpose of the Club, as suggested in our motto, is to foster a feeling of friendship among the students of the college whether their firesides be in different zones or gelid Alaska. The Club also tends to fix the attention of students on those underlying principles of international conduct, law, and organization which must be agreed upon and applied if peaceful Civilization is to continue.

Members of the International Relations Club represent the following States and foreign countries: Alabama, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, New Jersey, North Carolina, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, South Africa, China, England, Hawaii, India and Peru.

N.C.STATE COLLEGE

Not content with having the oldest postoffice in America named after George Washington, nor of going to the college taking the largest delegation of students from that town, the State College students from Washington have pioneered in another thing, that of forming a city club on the campus of this school.

The club has for its purpose the closer acquaintance of their town and their college for the up-building of both.

The Elder P. D. Gold Citizenship Medal

THE Elder P. D. Gold Citizenship Medal is awarded each year by Mr. C. W. Gold of Greensboro, N. C., member of the class of 1895, in memory of his father, Elder P. D. Gold of Wilson, N. C.

The award is based on four qualities of citizenship in the college community—Scholarship, Student Leadership, Athletics and Public Speaking. These four qualifications are certified to by the college Registrar, the Student Council, the Faculty Athletic Committee and a Committee composed of the ranking Junior officer in all college societies in which public speaking is practiced.

The name of the winner of this medal is announced each year by the President of the college at the commencement exercises.

Since the establishment of this award four years ago it has been won by the following men:

The 1927 Agromeck

John R. Anderson, Jr. Editor-in-Chief

F OR twelve months before the appearance of this annual there has been one man whose whole life has pivoted around one central idea—the production of the best Agromeck that any Senior Class has yet given to State College. Others have assisted, but the great burden of maintaining a skillful organization, the diplomatic handling of difficult situations, the eternal energy and drive, the broad and complete mental picture of the work in hand, the careful attention to the most minute and intricate details, in short, the building of this annual, has depended upon one man, the editor.

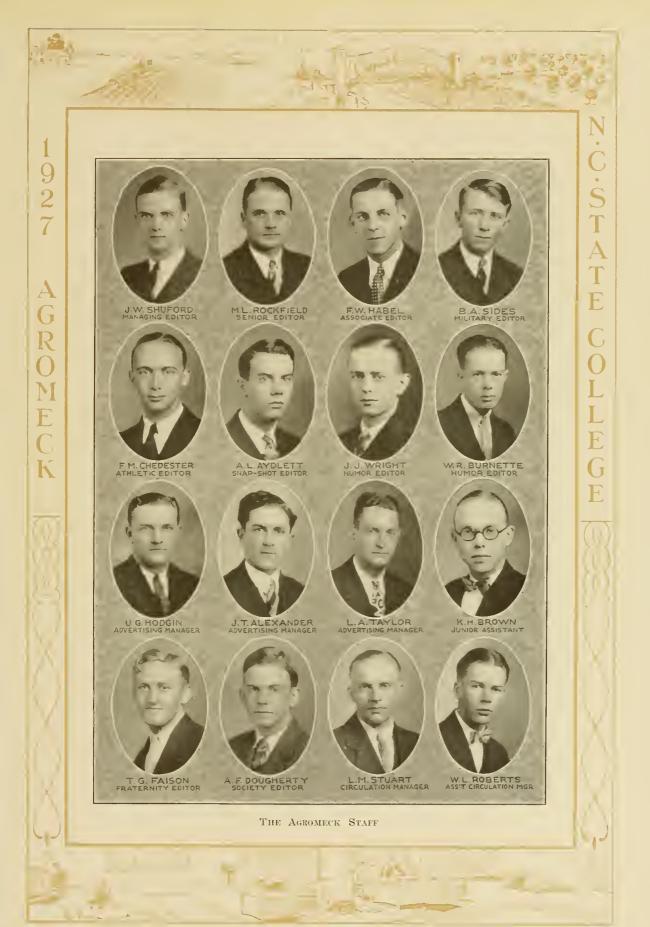

John Anderson has met every situation before it arrived. He has created fantastic ideas, and has carried them through to their fullest realization. He has done infinitely more than eapitalize on the experience of his predecessors.

The 1927 Agromeck will stand as a monument to his imagination, to his ability, to his industry, and to his organization.

A large part of the responsibility of producing a college annual, and incidentally one of the most important parts, falls upon the Business Manager. Throughout the past year Henry Weedon has demonstrated his uncanny ability to extract money from the student body and leave it with the feeling that he has done it a favor. He has directed the solicitation of advertising in a very capable and efficient manner. His untiring efforts and constant application have made the 1927 Agromeck a financial success. Much credit is due Henry for whatever virtues this book may have because it has been through his efforts largely, that a higher quality book has been made possible.

Editor-in-Chief

A CHAIN is no stronger than its weakest link. The ability to organize a strong chain in the staff of any college newspaper rests directly upon the Editorin-Chief. The staff must coöperate in every way with the Editor if the paper is to be successful and gratify the student body that has placed its faith in him as an Editor.

A man must possess certain traits of character to make this a reality. He must be agreeable, have a pleasing personality, be trustworthy and respected for the things which he does and says through the columns of the college paper. He must also be a leader, a scholar, must have some knowledge of journalism, and last of all, but equally as important, he must be popular among the students, whom he serves.

R. R. Fountain, better known as "Railroad" has demonstrated that he has these essential qualifications. He has been aggressive and as stated by one professor on the campus, "He has been one of the best executive editors that State College has ever produced," "Railroad" deserves much credit for making the Technician one of the outstanding college newspapers of the South.

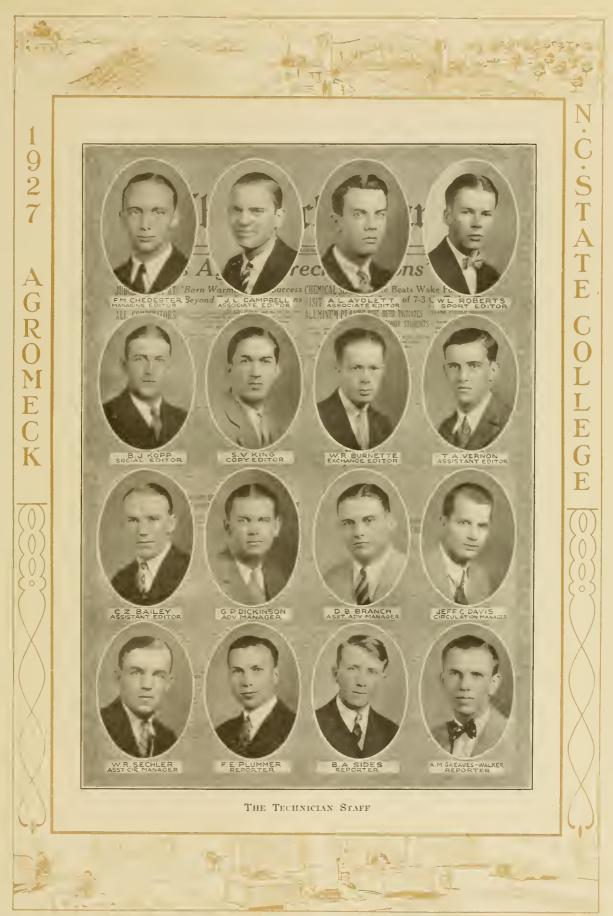

No college newspaper can long be better than its business management. The editor may be ever so capable, but unless the business manager can supply the funds the paper can at best be only an apology.

F. S. McCoy, business manager of The Technician, has done what others have found impossible. He has successfully financed his paper, and has done it so juictly, so cheerfully, and yet so efficiently that his associates have marveled. He has had capable assistants, but "Mac" is of the type that seldom remembers to leave any work for an assistant.

While others have loafed around the drug stores, on the street corners, or by their favorite fire-sides he has been busy demonstrating a financial ability that is usually classed with that of Henry Ford and other financial wizzards of international repute.

Leazar Literary Society

M EN come to State College to become trained for some vocation, particular business or profession. In a college of this nature there is a great need for an order which will broaden the man's education and prepare him to become a leader in his own particular field. Leazar Literary Society is such an order.

Every great leader must be able to express himself in writing and speaking very clearly. Leazar Literary Society, so named for one of the greatest benefactors of this college, Augustus Leazar, helps develop this essential attribute in the student. Leazar is not an end in itself. It is but the means to an end. It actually trains for speaking experiences after graduation. It is the open door leading to participation in collegiate and intercollegiate forensic contests, to the development of the art of clear thinking while facing an audience, and to a better understanding of parliamentary principles.

State College has come into some prominence in recent years in forensic activities, and this creates a greater field of opportunity for Leazar trained me. Leazar extends a hearty welcome for you to participate in the benefits of membership.

PULLEN Society won the 1925-26 intersociety contest in which the general comparison of work and activities alloted the higher score of points to this organization. In intersociety contests Pullen last year made a very creditable showing. In March Straughan and Roberts won the Sophomore debate and Tiddy placed second in the oratorical contest. Declamation was lost to Leazar. In April Kilgore and Burroughs won from Leazar in the Freshman debate.

Straughan and Rogers in March 1926 debated William and Mary on the light wines and beer question and made a very creditable showing despite the loss of the decision. In the following month the same team defeated the University of Georgia on the same question. On April 16 Courad and Tiddy debated William and Mary on the question of soviet Russia and brought back the large silver cup offered to the winner.

Although Pullen was slow in getting started this year, it finally got into its stride. In December, Morris and Aydlett lost declamation to Leazar and in February Aydlett and Truesdell lost oratory to the opposing team. The Leazar team won the Senior debate from Kopp and Trevathan but on March 25 Sott and Anmonds took the Junior contest for Pullen. The 1927 Sophomore and Freshman debates were held later in the year.

Forensics

PUBLIC speaking engages no small part of the interest and the activity of the students of North Carolina State College. Its foundation is in the regular classroom work, which is an elective course of study for members of all classes. In addition, there are two flourishing literary societies which meet weekly for society programs and which hold annually a series of intersociety contests in debate, oratory, and declamation.

Intercollegiate competition in forensics is now prominent in the life of the college. Debates are held annually with colleges, universities, and technical schools in North Carolina and neighboring states. For two successive years, speeches delivered by State College students have been reproduced verbatim in the University Debaters' Annual, a publication which contains fewer than ten of the best contests among American colleges and universities. State College is a member of the North Carolina Intercollegiate Forensic Association, an organization which sponsors contests in debate and oratory among the colleges of the State. The college participates annually in the State Peace Contest in Oratory and in the oratorical contest on the Constitution conducted by the Better American Federation of California. For each of the two years during which these latter contests have been conducted, State College has represented North Carolina in the Southern Regional Contest.

In recognition of the meritorious character of State College public speaking, a charter was recently granted to the college for a chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, the largest honorary forensic fraternity in the United States. Students who represent the college in debate and oratory are eligible to membership in this organization. For the current college year the member of North Carolina Alpha Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta is as follows: Professor C. C. Cunningham, Dean E. L. Cloyd, Prof. A. M. Fountain, E. G. Moore, R. R. Fountain, J. E. Tiddy, J. D. Conrad, W. E. Wilson (President), C. L. Straughan, and H. H. Rogers.

Professor Cunningham is Secretary-Treasurer and C. L. Straughan is President of the North Carolina Intercollegiate Forensic Association.

The past year in forensic competition has been unusually successful. In oratory, W. E. Wilson represented State College in a Pi Kappa Delta interstate contest, held at Fort Collins, Colorado, placing fifth. He also took part in the Better American Federation contest on the Constitution, winning the North Carolina contest, and placing second in the Southern Interstate. In debate, a team composed of C. L. Straughan and II. H. Rogers lost a two-to-one decision to the College of William and Mary, at Williamsburg, Va., and won a two-to-one decision from the University of Georgia, at Raleigh. These speakers attained what was probably the most noteworthy victory yet recorded by State College when, on March 5, 1927, they won a well-deserved decision from speakers of Wake Forest College, in an interesting and exciting contest held at Meredith College. For all three of their debates, these men have used the proposition of modifying the Volstead Act to permit the manufacture and sale of light wine and beer, upholding the affirmative side of the question, admittedly the more difficult side. The score with the College of William and Mary was evened up last year when a team composed of J. D. Conrad and J. E. Tiddy won a two-to-one decision on the affirmative side of the proposition of recognizing the Soviet government of Russia. This contest was held at Winston-Salem, and as a result of their victory the State speakers brought home a beautiful trophy in the form of a large silver loving-cup.

The remainder of the schedule for 1927 includes participation in the State Oratorical Contest, the Pi Kappa Delta province contest at Spartanburg, S. C., the State Peace Contest, and the State Contest on the Constitution. In all of these events, N. C. State will be represented by H. J. Oberholzer, of the Orange Free State, South Africa, a college speaker of far more than average ability. The season's remaining debates are a contest with Presbyterian College of South Carolina for the Pi Kappa Delta championship, a dual debate with High Point College, and an open forum debate with the State Teachers' College of Virginia, to be held in Portsmouth.

The Junior Order of Saints held its annual dance February 19, 1927. It was a splendid success. The Gymnasium was gaily decorated for the occasion.

Near the end of a "No break" dance each member of the Junior Order of Saiuts pinned a rose on his partuer.

There were many guests from out of the city, of which the majority were from Duke and Carolina.

This was one of the most successful dances of the year,

For the past twenty years the Alpha Epsilon Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity has give a dance on Easter Monday. They have capitalized the most delightful season of the year, and have always given a dance that is without parallel in the fraternal circles of the State. Many visitors come to the city for this event each year.

On April 5, the twentieth annual dance was given in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium. The gorgeous dresses, the unusually beautiful girls, and the splendid music furnished by Hal Kemp's Orchestra combined to make a most enjoyable evening.

One of the most unusually beautiful aspects of the whole dance was the figure and grand march, led by Mr. M. C. Comer with Miss Blanche Bonner. The decorations and lighting effects added greatly to the beauty of this number.

Midwinter and Pledge Dances

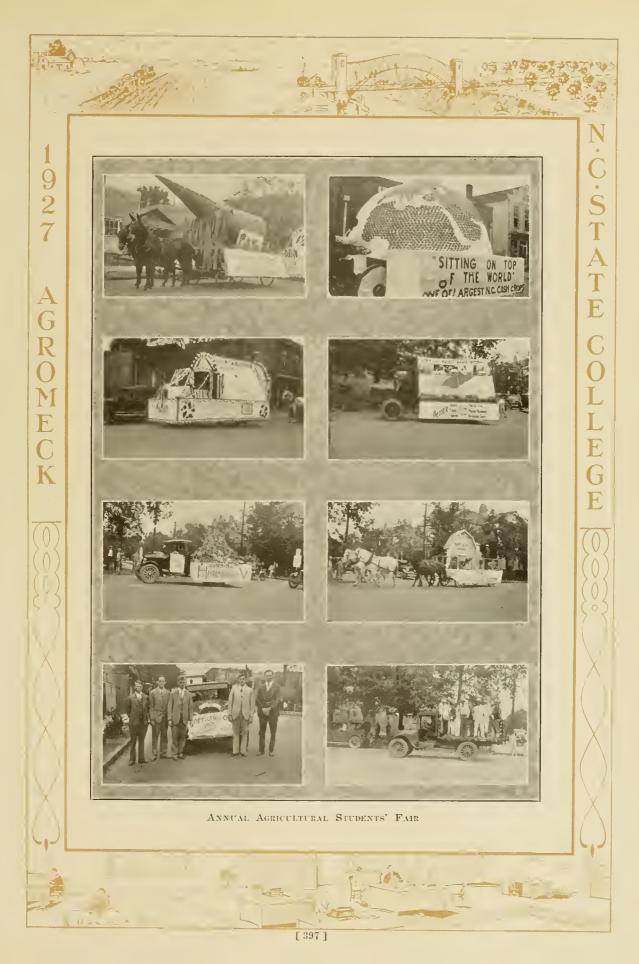

The Mid-Winter and Pledge dances served as a climax to the Christmas holidays. These dances were held on January 3 and 4 of this year in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium. With the "pep" and spirit of the New Year, and the excellent music furnished by Weidemeyer's Orchestra, these dances were acclaimed a wonderful success.

The German Club and the Pan-Hellenic Council jointly sponsored these dances.

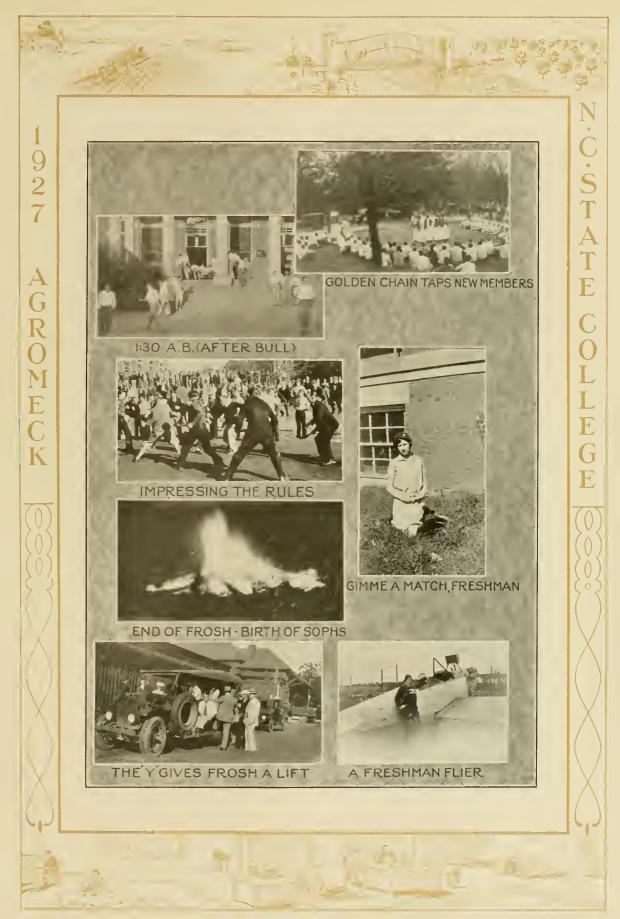

N.C.STATE COLLEGE 927 A G R O M E C O one who has never been to State College; to one who has never lived the days this book tries to portray, to one who might misunderstand this record of college life, we beg that you bear with us, be patient and try to interpret with moderate criticism these pictures of the collegiate world in which we have lived for four years. There are errors in the life shown here, there is pathos, cheer, comedy, tragedy and love of man for man. So circulate in your hearts the drama of this miniature stage of life, and balance each pictured deed and thought with some blessed days you too would fain live over again, and with a tempered and understanding heart, you will see behind it all that this is mere phase of the life we live but once.

DEDICATION

In response to the urge within every human being to ascribe all great works and worthy deeds to some controlling and guiding influence, we have sought far and wide for the institution or organization which does most to inspire us to higher ideals, greater achievement, and a more perfect realization of those virtues which contribute most to human happiness.

Our attention has been called frequently to the many and varied activities of a comparatively new campus organization. Since it was founded last year its members have labored diligently for the uplift of humanity. Within a few short months it has brought about the construction of an underground tunnel to St. Mary's; it has paved the way for a GREATER STATE COLLEGE by introducing CO-EDU-CATION; it has improved athletics by purchasing head-gear for the swimming teams; it has established a great laboratory for research in which a solution has been discovered which will grow hair on Dr. Forster's head; it has aided materially in the writing of a textbook on Journalism to be used in Stewart Robertsons's classes; and it eaused the legislature to kill Dr. Haywood's notorious contra-something bill.

In appreciation of its noble and too numerous to mention efforts toward making State College and North Carolina a better place to live. WE RESPECTFULLY DEDICATE, this, the 1927 ANGRY WHACK, to the

A HOT POEM-COLD

T'was Sunday morning On Saturday night The Sun was dark And the night was bright.

He sat in his car And walked to her house, A cyclone was roaring, T'was quiet as a mouse.

Her pa was home But father was dead, Her ma was bald With hair on her head.

They went inside And sat on the porch, T'was eight below zero And hot as a torch.

The stars hung low Two million miles away, As the midnight freight Sailed up the bay.

A postman passed In his grocery truck, The street was smooth And a Ford got stuck.

Far in the distance Just across the street, Flew a cross-eyed sparrow With calloused feet.

Then the curfew rang From the cellar belfry, And an Irishman passed By the name of Hellski.

The hoot-owls parked And barked like snakes, A janitor could be seen Sweeping off the Great Lakes.

Honorable Angus W. McLean. Governor of North Carolina, in a letter to the editor of Manufacturers Record says, "In all the development of North Carolina, electrical energy has had a major share."

In the centuries past industries have located at sources of power, necessitating the importation of labor and materials.

Today, industry locates at the source of materials, where climate is desirable and land and labor are cheap, and efficient public utilities transmit the power to their door.

North Carolina, being served by the vast super-power system of the Southeast, is able to realize on its extensive resources of materials, labor and unexcelled year around climate.

We put forth our best efforts to secure the biggest and best values the market offers for our customers—our attitude is that the best is none too good for those who favor us with their patronage. Everyone knows that when you get the best you pay for it and get more for your money. We decided that we could not afford to cut the quality of the merchandise we want to sell you in order to cut the price, and as wholesale prices are about equal we had a stiff problem to solve if we wanted to make our store headquarters for high quality and low prices. This is the way we do it. We cut our overhead expenses. We reduced our expensive display space on the ground floor and added to the space reached by our electric elevator. By exercising some other common sense economies we saved thousands of dollars in yearly expense which we can divide among our customers. Come in and see for yourself.

APPRECIATION

It has been a pleasure to miss meals and classes, cancel important dates, lose our girls to more attentive wooers, neglect our health and just about flunk out of school. It is a wonderful feeling to know that this task is done. We have lent our undivided efforts in an attempt to produce a really different Agromeck and at the same time maintain the high standard set up by those who have preceded us. We hope we have succeeded. If you like it, if it comes up to your expectations, then we can forget the little sacrifices which we found necessary while working on this book.

The hearty cooperation which we have received on all sides has lessened our burden and made possible the publication of the 1927 Agromeck. To all those who have helped in any way we wish to extend our hearty appreciation.

We wish especially to thank Mr. A. M. Beek of Edwards & Broughton Company, for his valuable suggestions, efficient personal service and constant interest in the Agromeck. We wish also to thank the foreman and workers at Edwards & Broughton who have on numerous occasions demonstrated individual interest.

To Siddell Studio, and especially to Mr. M. F. Dunbar, we express our thanks. The convenient and efficient service which they have at all times given us could not have been better.

A. M. Fountain and Tom McRea, members of the staff in former years, have earned our thanks by the continued interest which they have shown. Both have contributed suggestions and work which we appreciate. To Fountain is due the credit for writing the poems which appear on the division pages.

Our task is done. Our bags are packed. We are ready to leave.

Goodbye and good luck,
